GIGANTIC RUM RING NETTED MILLIONS

WEALTHY MEN OPERATING MANY BIG DISTILLERIES

Four Philadelphia Millionaires, "the Wall Street of the Rum Ring," Pulled Strings In Nationwide Alcohol Conspiracy Unearthed by Cleveland Grand Jury—Forty Arrests Made and More Than One Hundred Are Likely To Be Involved.

An alcohol ring that did a total business of $1,000,000 weekly, operate a chain of huge distilleries, suborned a score of federal, state and city employees and had for its head four Philadelphia millionaires of high financial social standing has been revealed in Cleveland by two weeks of federal investigation.

Before many days, District Attorney A. E. Bernstein hopes to have indicted between twenty and one hundred persons for as many as a hundred, overt acts connected with the alleged conspiracy.

Forty arrests have been made in the case and more than a hundred are likely to be involved, it has been consistently stated. Among those who are still sought are said to be four Philadelphia millionaires—"the Wall Street of the Rum Ring."

The conspiracy was headed by four Philadelphia millionaires.

Associated with the millionaires were thirty others who controlled 75 per cent of the alcohol business in the United States, regulating the price from coast to coast.

Fifteen distilleries were operated by the "ring," producing $1,000,000 worth of alcohol each week, at the distillery prices.

The output was sold to wholesalers for $140,000,000 a year, and retailing at $10 to $20 a gallon brought the country's alcohol bill for liquor from this one source to over $500,000,000 a year.

Nine hundred thousand gallons of alcohol were manufactured each week, or 46,800,000 gallons a year.

Initial establishment of two distilleries in Pennsylvania, two in Maryland and one in Kentucky was followed by establishment of subsidiaries in various cities to sell the product at wholesale.

Distilleries and subsidiary organizations were established under protection of local authorities and thru political influences.

Later redistilling plants were established to convert the eastern-produced denatured product into marketable beverage form.

Cleveland was chosen as a redistilling and distribution point because of its lake and railroad facilities and its central location.

A redistilling plant was operated

in Philadelphia under the guise of a perfume factory.

Chicago was a main distributing point for Illinois and Indiana with branches in smaller cities in these states.

St. Paul and Minneapolis sheltered a ring which supplied neighboring cities and supervised distribution to the Pacific Coast.

Philadelphia received 150,000 gallons of alcohol a week on a conservative estimate.

Drums of alcohol containing one hundred gallons were "watered" to make as much as 200 to 300 gallons so as to increase distribution and profits.

UNIQUE CELEBRATION.

Columbus, Feb. 22 (UP) "University Day" this year was celebrated in an unique manner at Ohio State university. This tradition, nearly fifty years old, was held chiefly up among the clouds.

The program broadcast from WEO began at 3 p. m., Eastern Standard time, and was exclusively of a patriotic nature commemorating Washington's birthday. WEO operates on a wave length of 294 meters. Heretofore the observance of "University Day" centered around a formal program in the university chapel with noted speakers giving addresses. The Acting President George W. Rightmire, of the university, radiocast a brief address. Other speakers on the program, arranged by Ohio State university professors and prominent alumni.

"University Day" was instituted in 1882 by Ohio State students.

SOLD TO GYPSY

Sold for $2,000 to the king of a band of gypsies seven months ago, Rose Dalena, sixteen, a Spanish girl, was found roaming aimlessly about Newark, N. J., at the height of a recent snowstorm. She was taken to a charitable institution for protection while her case is being studied.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

The following women from this city and county were assisting hostesses at the Washington day banquet of the Women's Republican club at the Neil House, Columbus, today: Mrs. H. G. Stevenson, Mrs. Roy Davis, Mrs. E. E. Prose, Mrs. W. J. Graham, Mrs. E. F. Anderson, Mrs. B. T. Hedges, Mrs. G. L. Schiear, Mrs. W. F. Cellar, Mrs. Ed. Wardell, Mrs. C. C. Chappelle and Mrs. Jay Wall, chairman. The speakers will be Mrs. Jessie Adler, assistant prosecuting attorney of Hamilton county and Judge Edward S. Hatthias of the supreme court.

New Bombing Planes Being Built for United States

Highly advanced bombing planes, including a superdreadnaught of the air, to be called the "Cyclops" and to be the largest of its kind in the world, are being secretly constructed for the United States government by the Huff-Debel Airplane company at Bristol, Pa. In another part of the shop a special fleet of light bombers is rapidly nearing completion. This latter type will be known as "Pegasus." The illustration shows men at work on wings for the "Pegasus" planes.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR STATE

Taken Direct From the Wires by Correspondents of the United States Press Association.

Columbus—Harry S. Day, state treasurer, was the luncheon speaker at the eighth annual convention of the Ohio Federation of Postoffice Clerks at the Hotel Chittenden. National representatives also addressed the gathering.

Liberalization of the retirement law and the abolition of night work were the chief issues discussed at the meetings, as were measures for the improvement of the postal service and better working conditions.

Cleveland—At its convention here last Thursday, F. B. Martin, of Mansfield, became the new president of the Ohio Hardware association. Robert Martin, of Ottawa, was chosen vice president, and James B. Carson, secretary and John F. Baker, treasurer. Directors were also named for the coming year.

Columbus—"The Bulletin of Business Research," a monthly publication issued primarily for Ohio business men, made its appearance here today.

Offering a summary of current business conditions, the bulletin will also include statistical data on the preceding month's business in various lines.

Dr. Spurgeon Bell, director of the bureau, formerly dean of the commerce school at the University of Texas, is editor of the Bulletin. It is issued monthly.

Solon.—While other members of the family were sleeping, Miss Hazel Howell shot and killed her aged mother, Mrs. Nancy Howell, in their home here Monday then turned the weapon on herself. She died a few moments later.

Miss Howell had been under observation for six weeks. She was discharged from the city hospital only last Friday. Authorities said they believed she was insane.

"IS FARMING A BUSINESS?"

Renick W. Dunlap, assistant secretary of agriculture, will speak in Columbus this evening before the mid-winter meeting of the Ohio Bankers' association upon "Is Farming a Business?"

NEWS ABOUT COURT HOUSE

General Happenings Taken From the Records of the Various County Offices.

Will of A. E. Weaver.

The will of Alonzo E. Weaver has been probated.

The testator gives to his wife, Julia F. Weaver during her lifetime the home farm in Walnut township, and after his death to his daughters; Lulu B. Marion, Edith Marion and Mary Ater in equal shares.

He gives to his wife all the household goods, automobile and dividends in the Citizens' bank, of Ashville and the Ashville Grain company and one thousand dollars in government bonds.

The stock in the Citizens' bank is given to his grandsons, Alonzo and Gerald Marion in equal shares and the stock in the Ashville Grain company is divided equally among his three grand children; Alonzo, Gerald and Kathryn Marion. He also gives his father's gold watch to Alonzo Marion and to each of his children he gives one thousand dollars in government bonds.

The remainder of the property is to be converted into cash and divided equally among his wife and three children.

Alonzo Marion was named and appointed executor without bond. The will was written January 24, 1925, and was witnessed by Everett Seeds and George W. Morrison. The court appointed the following appraisers; J. N. Hedges, J. B. Cromley and Ludwig Oesterle.

Suit Dismissed.

The partition suit of Maggie Viney against James Ramey and others in the common pleas court has been settled and dismissed and the following entry placed upon the journal:

"This day this cause came on to be heard upon the petition of the plaintiff, the answers of Mary E. Dunlap, James Ramey, Martha Reamey and the joint answer of John C. Dunlap et al, and upon the evidence and was argued by counsel, thereupon the court finds by and with the consent of the parties that the plaintiff, Maggie Viney, is not a child and heir at law of Charles H. Dunlap, deceased, and is not entitled to partition of the premises described in the petition.

"The court further finds that James Ramey and Martha Dewey are the owners in fee simple of the whole of the premises described in the petition.

"Is it, therefore, ordered that the petition of the plaintiff is hereby dismissed and by consent of the parties a final and complete record is ordered dispensed with."

C. H. LEWIS ENTERS RACE.

Lieutenant Governor Charles H. Lewis, Harpster, in a speech at Kenton Friday night, announced that he had decided to enter the race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in the August primaries.

Lewis is the fourth to announce his candidacy. The others are Secretary of State Thad H. Brown, Mrs. Evelyn Frances Snow, of Mt. Vernon, and Thomas W. Latham, of Monroeville.

SAW TAME DEER.

Mrs. W. H. Foresman of Pleasant street, was out in Forest cemetery Sunday afternoon and had the pleasure of seeing the deer that has been roaming over this section of the county for the past few weeks. The animal came from St. Joseph's cemetery and came to within thirty feet of Mrs. Foresman and stopped for a moment.

ISN'T HE A BEAUTY?

Allen F. Maybee of Kalamazoo, Mich., has been voted the handsomest senior at Columbia university, but he is not proud of the distinction, and declares that the man who "accuses" him of being this will be "socked." Maybee is the leader of the university glee club.

GRANGE MEETING.

Last Saturday the Pickaway Pomona Grange was entertained by Nebraska Grange at the Walnut township school building with about 125 in attendance. In addition to the regular order of business a good musical program consisting of both instrumental and vocal selections was enjoyed by all present.

WRECKLESS AUTO DRIVER.

Cecil Clark was placed under arrest this morning and was slated as a wreckless driver.

Athletic Club Gym Held a Record Breaking Crowd --More Good Games.

The C. A. C. Gym was jammed to the scuppers Saturday morning and afternoon, the occasion being the lifting off the lid of the Pickaway County Basketball tournament. It was probably the largest crowd that ever has been seen on the local court.

The morning play was given over to the boys' games and in the afternoon to the young women athletes. All the games were interesting and especially so to the rabid followers of the teams engaged.

Officials were Mr. Seddon and Mr. Spangler of Ohio State.

The Monroe boys won a close game from Saltcreek by a 11 to 10 score. This game required an overtime period. The only score was the result of a foul.

New Holland bested Scioto in one of the best high school games ever played on the C. A. C. floors. The game was in doubt up to the last minute. No more than four points separated the teams at any one time. The game ended New Holland 26, Scioto 20.

Lyons, left guard, was the star of the game, making 15 of the team's points. Cook, big center for New Holland played a splendid game, as back guard. Trego was Scioto's main cog, with Furnis a capable running mate.

Williamsport surprised many by holding Pickaway to a tie until the final minutes, when Enoch and Rittinger gathered several pretty shots and put them in the lead 22-15 at the final whistle. Enoch played best for Pickaway, while Radcliff and Lanman played best for Williamsport.

Next Saturday morning Muhlenberg will meet Ashville, Monroe will tie in with Jackson and New Holland and Perry will battle.

In the afternoon four girls' games were played. All games were very good and enthusiasm ran high among the supporters of the different teams.

New Holland won from Ashville by the score of 17 to 6 in a good game in which the accurate shooting of Kirk was the feature.

The Deercreek girls took the game from Pickaway by a 22 to 6 score. Noble, of Deercreek, was the star and showed a nice eye for the net.

Monroe lost to Muhlenberg by the score of 10 to 15 in a nice game which was exceptionally swift for girls.

Scioto won the game with Jackson with a 10 to 6 score. The Scioto girls staged a great up-hill battle to win this game. Jackson led most of the first half, but was well down in the final period.

Friday evening of next week New Holland against Saltcreek and Muhlenberg against Walnut.

DISMISS THE CASE AGAINST THE TEACHER

The charge against Professor O. S. Thacker, principal of the public schools, arrested on the charge of assault and battery on Joseph Rooney, a student, has been dismissed.

It is understood that the affidavit, under which the principal was arrested is faulty, in that the city has no ordinance covering a charge of this kind. It is thought the matter will be dropped. The young student apparently is getting along nicely. He was in attendance at the basketball game at the public school and dance at the C. A. C. last week.

WHAT IS TO BE DONE?
"A very difficult question," the President calls the traffic casualties of the time. The figures that he cites—24,000 persons killed in a year upon the streets and highways of the country, and probably more than 500,000 injured. This means that over a period of the same length as our participation in the world war Americans are losing three-fourths as many lives on streets and roads as they lost to German bullets, and running up in addition a non-fatal casualty list thrice as great as they did abroad.
"The president has asked all the governors to appoint delegates to a national safety convention to assemble in March. While we know of no formula to meet the situation he has outlined the conference may write history by focusing public attention on the national aspects of a problem made up of a multitude of incidents at street corners and cross roads. Many communities are at work seeking and applying remedies.
The figures set forth in this article certainly ought to be a very convincing argument for

Great Progress in 1925 Will Be Shown at National Convention, November 11-19.

Many thousands of young men and young women have signed the Patriotic Roll of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union during the past year, declaring their loyalty to the Constitution of the United States and their promise to work for better enforcement of all laws.

This enrollment together with a children's allegiance pledge signed by 1,000,000 American school children, will be shown at the fifty-first convention of the National W. C. T. U., which will meet in Detroit, November 11-19.

Young men and young women of high school and college years throughout the United States are showing great enthusiasm for the educational program of the W. C. T. U. and are eager supporters of the prohibition laws, according to Miss Anna A. Gordon of Evanston, Ill., national president of the White Ribbon organization.

Pointing out that 1925 is "Youth's Year" in the W. C. T. U. calendar, Miss Gordon said today that "the attitude of the young people towards prohibition when they understand its basic soundness, is gratifying. They are eager to learn how they can help law enforcement in their own communities and their response to our appeal for the enlistment of the coming generation in the dry ranks has been magnificent."

"Our line-up with living issues" will be the subject of Miss Gordon's annual address in which she will show the part the W. C. T. U. is taking today in all branches of activity affecting the welfare of women and children and how its departments of citizenship, legislation, scientific temperance investigation, child welfare, social morality, Americanization, peace, and some twenty others, are contributing to a united effort to make this a better world.

International night will be one of the high points of the convention program as representatives from other countries will be present and border problems will be discussed when W. C. T. U. and enforcement officials from both Canada and the United States speak. Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury, and Mrs. Gordon Wright, president of the Canadian W. C. T. U., will address the convention on this evening. Representatives from other countries include Miss Michi Sembongi, Japan; Miss Isabel McCormick, Australia; Miss Mary Campbell, India; Miss P. Kassabova, Bulgaria; and Miss Amy Spalding from the Orient. Miss Spalding has a particularly spectacular story in that she was living in Shanghai during the days when the city was thronged with soldiers of opposing factions and all China was in turmoil.

Michigan Night when well-known residents of the Wolverine state will speak, and Youth's Night when a dramatic presentation of the Patriotic Rolls is made, will be other featured events on the program. The Rev. Lynn Harold Hough of the Central M. E. Church will preach the annual convention sermon, Nov. 18. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt and Fred B. Smith will be among the speakers at the get-together dinner held Nov. 12 at the Statler Hotel, the official headquarters of the convention which will hold its business sessions at the Woodward Avenue Baptist Church.

Miss Anna A. Gordon, president and Dr. Ella A. Boole of New York, vice-president, will alternate in presiding over convention sessions. Mrs. Frances P. Parks, corresponding secretary, will present a report showing the growth of the organization since the convention met in Detroit 42 years ago, and Mrs. Margaret C. Munns, treasurer, will give figures to show how the W. C. T. U. spends its money. Mrs. Elizabeth Preston Anderson of N. D., recording secretary and Mrs. Sara Hoge of Lincoln, W. Va., assistant recording secretary, will give interesting sidelights on law enforcement in their respective states.

LOANS up to $500

The average credit terms quoted on a commodity sold on the payment plan are always in favor of the seller. For example— if you pay faster than your contract provides, the seller gets the advantage. On the other hand, if you fail to pay as regularly as you should, you run the risk of losing your auto, or furniture, or piano, or sewing machine, or sweater, or whatever it is, and all the money you have previously paid on it may be charged up against you as rent. Under the City Loan plan, you pay for the exact time you use the money and the cost is reduced with each payment. Thus it can be seen that City Loan credit terms are in favor of the borrower, with every inducement for him to pay back as fast as he can. Failure to pay, for good cause, is always given fair consideration.

The Vogue of Velvet Predominates This Season Even to the Accessories That Complete the Costume

Others Windsor, one of the best dressed women of the screen, in a chic new velvet coat trimmed with ermine, which she wears in "Dance Madness," her next Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production.

TO be in velvet," as someone recently remarked, "is to be in vogue." Everything this season is fashioned of velvet or combined with velvet, from practical every day jumper frocks of sturdy velveteen to sumptuous evening gowns and wraps of lustrous chiton velvet.

Striking effects are achieved through the combination of velvet and other fabrics. Lame, silver and gold brocades, metal cloths and other rich materials so much in vogue this season are effectively combined with velvet in the very smart jumper frock that is now the rage as well as in sumptuous combinations. Contrast the wrap of white velvet worn with the dinner or evening gown of black.

For afternoon wear, one of the smartest costumes which effectively combines the chic of velvet with the striking effect of black and white, is the popular velvet coat trimmed with ermine. Claire Windsor, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer player, wears a very smart costume of this kind in "Dance Madness," her next production. The coat of black velvet, illustrated above, is smartly bordered with ermine, and a chic upturned hat of black velvet completes the costume.

In keeping with the vogue of velvet and to complement the ensemble effect which makes the well-groomed woman today, accessories blending with the costume are being fashioned of velvet.

Illustrated above are a few of the new accessories in smart Fifth Avenue shops. The underarm bag of velvet adds to its beauty by being trimmed with gold leather and stitched in gold; a velvet cigarette case set in a silver frame has a brilliant rhinestone monogram, and the stunning looking velvet pumps have extremely attractive pearl buckles in which black velvet squares are inserted. Many of the new hand made wraps worn so smartly on the shoulders of evening gowns or on the laps of winter coats, are fashioned of velvet in brilliantly blending shades.

LOAN SHARKS HAVE BEEN KNOCKED OUT OF OHIO

Columbus, Feb. 20.—(Special.)—The loan shark virtually has been driven out of Ohio.

This statement was made by Cyrus Locher, state director of commerce, in announcing that the state has granted 246 chattel loan licenses, an increase of 16 over a year ago.

"The elimination of the loan shark," said Mr. Locher, "has been brought about largely through the activities of the blue sky department, with the co-operation of the Ohio industrial lenders, banks and building and loan associations.

Industrial lenders operate in Ohio under the provisions of the Lloyd act and reports are made to the department of commerce. Loans are made on chattels to the extent of $300, the interest rate being fixed by law and determined by scientific actuarial computations.

Investigation has revealed that about 85 per cent of the people have no collateral that would be accepted at banks as security for loans and the industrial loan business has been established for the purpose of accommodating this class of citizens.

Money borrowed from industrial lenders finds its way back, it is declared, to local merchants in payment of small accounts, although there are many instances where the money has been used as a down payment on a lot and formed the nucleus of a fund with which to erect a home.

Co-operation between the Ohio Industrial Lenders' Association, and the department of commerce, it was declared today, has placed the small loan business on a substantial basis, enabling one without banking credit to obtain funds at lawful rates of interest to tide them over in cases of emergency.

The vow was taken by the girls following a lecture by Dr. Chas. E. Barker of Rotary International, given under the auspices of the California federation of women's clubs.

"Every young woman owes a direct responsibility to her unborn babe," he said, after discussing existing "immoralities."

KINNEARS TOO MUCH FOR THE C. A. C. TEAM

Most Enjoyable Game Was Won by Visitors by the Score of 38 to 23.

The Athletic Club Gym was the scene of a mighty enjoyable game of basketball Saturday night, when the C. A. C. boys played against the well known Columbus Kinnears.

The score was 38 to 23 in favor of the visitors, not thru any lack of fight or ability on the part of our boys, but simply that the Kinnears were the better team.

However, it wasn't nearly the easy thing that some looked for, and that is more of a brag on the Roundtown team than a knock for the Kinnears. The unavoidable absence of Johnny Miner and Deacon Lynch undoubtedly hurt the visitors, but Circleville has a right to be proud of her representatives, anyhow. They showed a lot of fight all the way thru and proved themselves to be a real good basketball team, even in defeat.

Mel Shaw was high score, from his guard position scoring seven goals from field. However, he allowed Jim Gattrell to get in six for next high. Robinson played his usual, able game at guard, and the entire club team played the floor well and all contributed to the score.

The well known running mates, Chic Harley and Pete Stinchcomb, filled the forward positions for the visitors, and played a bang-up game. Andy Nemecek's giant form was always easily in evidence, while Bobby Shea scored ten points and guarded well, tho a trifle roughly.

The visitors got the jump at the start and run up a score of 16 to 9 before the Club boys had gotten over their preliminary nervousness. However, the local lads soon came back strong and allowed the visitors only two points in the second quarter, while running the count up to 18 to 12 by the end of the half. Soon after the beginning of the second half it was 19 to 16 in favor of the Kinnears, but this was as close as it ever got, and the visitors gradually pulled away.

The crowd was one of the largest ever accommodated in the Club Gym, and all were pleased with the contest. The Kinnears are nearly all Ohio State men and two are All-American. A large crowd enjoyed the jitney dance after the game. Music was by the High-Jinks orchestra, of Columbus.

The Kinnears will play Olson's Terrible Swedes on the C. A. C. floor on March 6. This game has caused a lot of talk already, and there is no doubt at all that it will be a classic in Circleville sports.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Scientist A's Notes Decrease of Little Toe Bones.

Baltimore, Md.—Tendency of the human ear to become smaller, except the lobe, which remains a kind of provision of nature "to give women something to hang ornaments on," was cited among other things by Dr. Adolph Schultz as demonstrating in his opinion the present-day working of evolution. Decreasing number of small bones in the little toe and the passing of the wisdom tooth are others.

Doctor Schultz is associate in anthropology in Johns Hopkins Medical school and is widely known for his research concerning the bodily structure of man as compared with the primates. For the edification of man—and woman, too—who is prone to believe that he is perhaps a perfect specimen, Doctor Schultz enumerated the following as not certainly but quite likely to be wrong with him:

His eyes are not in the same horizontal plane.

His ears are not of the same size.

His mouth is bigger on one side, and the sides are not on the same level.

One foot is larger than the other.

His collar bone is not symmetrical.

"Man, however, is not the only one of the higher animals to show a difference from the primitive ancestor," Doctor Schultz said. "The ears of the orang-outang, for instance, are small, and its big toe is only a stump of what it once was. Of course its mental powers do not compare with those of man but the orang-outang probably has made as much progress away from the original ancestor as man has."

KEMAL IN SILK HAT

Make Strong Linen of Human Hair Mixture

Amiens, France.—The manufacture of strong linen for the filtering of extra heavy oils and other fats is the latest use found for milady's beautiful hair.

The supply of women's hair being totally inadequate to meet the demand of the manufacturers, it is now being mixed with hair obtained in China from the fast disappearing queues of modern celestialists.

The carding, spinning and weaving of human hair for the manufacture of cloth is an industry just established here, but which has made great strides. The cloth or linen obtained from very close weaving of hair is virtually untearable and is in demand by refining plants and distillers of heavy oils, which require that the cloth used as filters be subjected to a very high tension.

Several washing operations are required before the hair can be sent to the carding room. Thereafter it is handled just like wool and woven on special looms.

Holds Office 46 Years

Unionville Centre, Ohio.—John Peter Krittline, ninety-one, has been re-elected treasurer of this village rounding out 46 continuous years in that job, and establishing what he believes to be a new Ohio record for longevity in elective office.

$1,000 to Canary

Los Angeles, Cal.—When the will of Mrs. August L. Marr was read it was found she had provided for her pet canary. She instructed that $1,000 be invested at 6 per cent, the interest to go to the support of her pet.

Rat Hide Brings $3.50

at Sale to Fur Dealer

Victoria.—Rat hides are valuable, especially if they are of a large size, but this fact was not known in Victoria until a few days ago when Juan Bernal shot a large wood rat out of a tree west of the river.

The rat was half the size of an opossum and a local dealer paid $3.50 for the hide.

PSYCHOLOGY VALUABLE AND INTERESTING

Average Man or Woman May Derive Much Good From Its Intelligent Study.

"Psychology is no Aladdin's lamp," says Everett Dean Martin in his reading course, Psychology and Its Use, which has recently been added to the shelves of the Circleville Public Library. Having firmly established the fact that "it is not for those who wish to get something for nothing," he goes on to show how psychology can be studied and used in such a way as to be of genuine value to the average man or woman.

This brief introduction of 32 pages is followed by the reading course itself, seven books in all, recommended by Mr. Martin for consecutive reading. This is the tenth course in the "Reading with a Purpose" series published by the American Library association. Like the course on psychology, each number of the series is written by an acknowledged authority who introduces the subject and recommends a few books to direct the reader's interest.

Courses which have appeared previously are: Biology, English Literature, Some Great American Books, Sociology and Social Problems (ten Pivotal Figures of History, Conflicts in American Public Opinion, Ears to Hear; A Guide for Music Lovers, Our Children and Frontiers of Knowledge. Other subjects will follow about one a month.

The courses are available at the Public Library and if notice is given the librarian, the library will endeavor to supply the books as needed.

Ostrich Trimmed Gown

THE novel feature of this peach chiffon frock, worn by Kathleen Key, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer player, is the skirt. Very long ostrich feathers, uncurled, cover the skirt and fall below the hem. They are attached at the low waist line with pearl beads, and strands of pearl beads also hang from the waist to below the hem. A large ostrich feather ornament on the hip completes this attractive gown.

If history can be depended upon the earliest of the old-time fiddlers was Nero.—Detroit News.

Dress of Black Satin Has Suspender Straps

Georgette Is Popular for Evening Apparel

For evening wear, georgette, because of its variety of color in so many subtle shades, is the choice of many. It may be embroidered in beaded designs, plaited, flounced with lace or trimmed with any of the new metallic ribbons as well as with flowers and feathers, now so much in vogue for the evening gown.

Sports wear includes many materials, among them tussah and shantung weaves. Plaids after the style of Scotch glenghams in all-over effects or as border are shown. A washable sports silk strongly resembles covert cloth, with its white flecks and horizontal weave. This silk comes only in the light colors and is guaranteed sun fast. Another good feature about it is that it may be washed with any kind of soap.

For coats there are three classes, those of the light kasha weaves for general wear, the heavy crocheted or hand-loomed effects in plaid designs for sports wear and the heavy faille silks with satin backs for dressy wear. This new ribbed silk includes all the light spring shades as well as black and navy.

Tapestry Overnight Bag Is Practical and Smart

Wool and cotton tapestry overnight bags are a recent innovation among the smart woman's accessories. Naturally enough, the fashion for carrying these bags had its genesis along the Riviera, where several smart Parisiennes were seen carrying bags of this sort, and some of them have already worked their way over to these shores. The typical tapestry overnight bag, which is an outcome of the old-fashioned carpetbag, measures about twelve inches square. The tapestry, which comes in such mixtures as brown, rose and green, tan and blue and tan and brown, as well as red with tan and blue, is mounted on a covered frame whose corners are rounded just a trifle. The handle and bottom of the bag are of leather, in either a matching or a contrasting shade. It is lined throughout with a practical shade of tan rubberized silk, which makes the bag a practical and smart affair for beach wear. It is also most convenient for shopping and when motoring, because it is very soft and flexible.

Plaited Skirts Are in Spring Fashion Pictures

The skirts of two-piece frocks show a decided trend toward plaited treatments. There is seemingly no limit to the style or arrangement of these plaitings.

The simplest form is certainly the all-around plaited skirt which if obvious is smart as well. Then cluster effects are good, groups of tiny plaits alternating with plain spaces. Some of these are wide enough to have the look of panels. One plaited skirt of a jumper frock goes so far as to have plaited separate panels posed over a plaited underskirt.

There is a decided movement toward fancy or novelty plaitings, tiny box plaits set in between side plaits, and pressed-over effects that give a sort of pattern to a plaited section or panel. There is not a great deal of fullness involved in these treatments, but they do provide some extra width at a hem, and with their straight fullness tend decidedly away from the circular flare.

A Spring Shade

Fashion has a habit of rushing the seasons. Therefore it is not a surprise to learn from recently returned travelers that mignonette green is a favorite color of the moment in Paris. Many dresses or tunics of that color in satin are being worn with velvet hats of the same shade.

MEDICAL SOCIETY RECOMMENDS

Health Officer With Jurisdiction Over Both City and County.

At a recent meeting of the Pickaway County Medical society a committee of three was appointed whose duty it is to cooperate with the press of the county in presenting to the public various matters of interest to it.

Believing that a medical society has long ceased to be solely a gathering for self-betterment and social intercourse, the local society has undertaken to bring before the public by means of the press an exposition of the aims and objects of the medical profession the country over. It will publish its position on various health problems of the community and in every way strive to present to the public the best of medical progress.

Locally, this society is in favor of a combined health officer with jurisdiction of both city and county. It is opposed to the old custom of the extension of credit over long periods of time and desultory payments of the accounts.

Generally, this society is opposed to state medicine when that undertakes to deal with individuals. It emphasizes the need and urges the practice on the part of the public, of preventive medicine. The periodic health examination of apparently healthy persons offers the means of untold economies in time, money and pain.

Tuberculosis.
In regard to living in a home where there are tuberculous people, the American Medical association has the following advice to offer. Living in the house with a person who has tuberculosis is not unsafe when intelligent nursing is practiced. Attendants in tuberculosis sanatoria seldom contract the disease.

In homes in which cases of tuberculosis have been handled in a careless manner, the germs contaminate the room in room in which the patient is kept. When there are young children and they are permitted to play on the floors and to use household articles from the sick room, there is danger that they may become infected.

Soiled floors and soiled articles are also mediums for the transmission of the germ to food supplies by means of flies and vermin.

The prevention of tuberculosis is in the control of the sputum that comes from the infected areas of the lungs of the patient. The sputum contains a great number of germs. If each time the patient coughs, the expectoration is spit carefully into a sputum cup and burned, the transmission of the germs to others is prevented. The spread of the disease would soon stop if everyone with active tuberculosis would comply with this simple precaution.

Tuberculosis germs soon die in the presence of light, air and lack of moisture. The renovation of a room on the recovery or death of a tuberculosis patient requires thorough scouring with hot water and lye in sufficient quantities and strength to make the room thoroughly clean; then the doors and windows should be opened for two or three days to permit the entrance of sunlight and air and to allow for thorough drying. If one does not feel that these measures are sufficient, the woodwork may be freshly painted and the walls newly papered. Bedding and articles of clothing may be sterilized by boiling. Articles that cannot be boiled may be dry cleaned or sunned and aired.

Testimony by Telephone

Recently, testimony was taken by telephone in an American court. One of the witnesses for the commonwealth in an automobile accident case, had just returned home after being a patient in a hospital and was unable to attend court. He was called by telephone, the oath administered and his testimony transmitted and recorded by the court stenographer.

BOY'S ATTAINMENT AMAZES SCIENTISTS

Transits of Star.

Copenhagen.—Scientists in Denmark are amazed at the attainment of sixteen-year-old Bengt Stroemgreen, son of Prof. Ellis Stroemgreen, director of Copenhagen's astronomical observatory.

This young astronomer has constructed an electrical apparatus which automatically registers the movements of the stars, thus saving astronomers long watching through the telescope.

By the invention the human eye is replaced by a photo-electric cell connected to a telegraphic receiver which measures the time of transit of the stars across the meridian.

Young Stroemgreen, who only recently left school, is now studying mathematics and astronomy at Copenhagen university. His father, however, has insisted on his continuing his studies for the sake of the companionship of boys of his own age. When only fourteen years of age Bengt astonished the astronomical world by writing a technical article on an astronomical problem.

x x x x x x x x

The biggest thrill of many seasons in the American theater was provided late in the summer of 1924 when "What Price Glory" burst on Broadway with a report which has echoed across the continent. "What Price Glory" is the only play about the war of which men who have been in the thick of it say; "This is it!" "What Price Glory" comes to the Hartman theater, Columbus, for one week beginning Monday February 22, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

This picture of the war is revealed almost unconsciously by its authors. Laurence Stallings and Maxwell Anderson never planned to make history with their play. Their modest intent was to tell the story—a grinning comedy, in truth—of a battle between two hardboiled Marines for the favors of a peasant girl in a shell-torn corner of France.

But so alive, throbbing and hard-fisted are those characters, so vivid are the scenes, that those who have yearned to know how the war looked and felt and tasted come away from "What Price Glory" with the conviction that they now know something of the war as these men know it. Gargantuan figures they are, Flagg and Quirt. Beasts, men and gods—something of each. To know them is to see life magnified, made more beautiful, more horrible, more devilish and more divine than we, in our cramped lives, can hope to live it.

Captain Flagg and Sergeant Quirt, as impersonated by Louis Wolheim and William Boyd, are unforgettable. Indeed the whole company of Marines, French peasants, staff officers and camp followers is so perfectly cast that the play offers a cross section of the French front seen thru the eyes of a laughter loving American.

"What Price Glory" was born of the experiences of Laurence Stallings on the battle fields of France. Its characters and incidents, are lifted from life. Veterans of the Marine corps visit the play again and again to greet with cheers of laughter and reminiscent chuckles the whole string of characters and incidents of the story.

To the men who were over there, "What Price Glory" will recall the most acute moments of their lives. To the millions of others it has the incalculable value of satisfying a hunger to know what the World war really meant. Here it is—the grinning, brutal, heroic truth.
See it! Then—you'll know.

MANY VOLUMES CIRCULATING FROM LIBRARY

Total Over 37,000 in the Past
Year—State Institution is a Great Help.

Prospects for activities of the Circleville Public Library in 1926 indicate greater demands upon its resources than ever before. The part that the library takes in all community interests is becoming more and more fully understood and appreciated by the people of our town and vicinity. The problems that confront the board of trustees and librarian in adjusting needs and resources are serious ones and the following report only shows to a small degree some of the work accomplished.

The number of books issued for home reading grows from year to year. There is also a noticeable increase in reference work and reading room attendance. The increase in circulation for 1925 over 1924 was slightly less than that of 1924 over 1923 but a noteworthy comparison and matter for congratulation lies in the classes of books circulated. In 1925 both adult and juvenile fiction showed slight decreases in the number of books issued, while there were gains in every class of non-fiction.

The resources of the local library are materially increased thru the co-operation of the State library. Many books and much information, not otherwise available, are supplied to individual borrowers thru this service. The number of books so loaned are not included in our circulation total as they are counted in the statistics of the larger library.

Books circulated during the year:

Blame Rays of Sun for Mysterious Fires

Among the many causes of costly fires the sun is one that must be reckoned with, according to a general agent for the Chicago Fire Underwriters' Laboratories.

"In an Illinois city not long ago a fire broke out in the display window of a jewelry store," says the same authority, in Popular Science Monthly. "Among the window decorations was a round ball of glass with a picture under it. The glass had focused the rays of the sun so that it acted like a prism and set fire to tissue paper streamers hanging at the back."

Another natural firebug he says, is static electricity.

"The other day a big garage burned. Thirteen men were injured and 19 cars burned to cinders because a garage workman didn't know that chamol's skin and gasoline are a dangerous combination. He was filling a gas line tank and used a chamol's skin inside the funnel to strain out the water. Friction of the gasoline falling on the skin caused static electricity. One good spark was enough to start things going."

Coal Second in France
Coal is next after textile manufacturing in France as an industry of major importance. There are five distinct and separate districts
in France where coal is mined on a large scale. The number of men employed dropped from over 200, 000 in 1912 to 50,000 in 1915 due to the war. France, however, consumes more coal than it mines by 10,000,000 to 20,000,000 tons.

AMUSEMENTS

A story of Quebec, with its old-time
romantic atmosphere and the Canadian woods—one of the most popular novels by a tremendously popular author.

That's what one finds on the screen
at the Met theater in the Irvin Willat
Paramount production, "The Ancient Highway" by James Oliver Curwood.
Jack Holt, Billie Dove and Montagu
Love are featured in the principal roles of the production, adapted for the screen by James S. Hamilton and Eve Unsell.

Holt, as Clifton Brant, after adventurous wanderings all over the world, comes back to Canada to settle an account with the man who had ruined and killed his father. He finds that Ivan Hurd (Love), the big lumber king is not only his own enemy
but the enemy of a beautiful girl (Billie Dove), whose fortune and good name are both in danger.

Brant, to wipe out his own debt of vengeance and because he has fallen in love with the girl, enlists in the unequal battle against one of the biggest and most powerful men in the country, tho his love is unwelcome to her and she accepts his help only because he forces it upon her.

The climax of the struggle comes during the great spring log drive, in which the man has to pit his own unaided strength against not only a ruthless millionaire with every resource at his command but against the forces of nature as well.

The picture ends with the thrilling
break up of the log-jam and the hero
after risking death, comes back to life
to find himself, under surprising circumstances, married to the girl he loves.

A stirring romance of open roads
and deep forests and old Quebec, of danger and brave deeds, there you have "The Ancient Highway."

Appearing in support of the featured players are Stanley Taylor,
Lloyd Whitlock, William A. Carroll,

Twenty Years Longer Life Seen in Half Century

New York.—Twenty years can be added to the average life within the next half century, according to John
A. Kingsbury, secretary of the Milbank Memorial fund, which has conducted experiments in health tests in city and rural districts of New York state with the $2,000,000 fund at its disposal for this purpose. The report of the fund shows decrease in deaths and sickness as the result of the tests.

The infant mortality rate in Cataraugus county has decreased under the tests from 93 per 1,000 births in 1923 to 65 per 1,000 in 1924, while the general death rate for the latter period was 12.6 per 1,000 of population, as against 14.4 in 1923.

The supervisors of the county have been so encouraged by this progress that they have increased the health budget from $16,000 to $56,000. Some improvement also has been noted in Syracuse.

METHODISM IN BUCKEYE STATE IS FLOURISHING

First Congregation Was Assembled in Blockhouse
Guarded by Armed Men

At Carpenter's Station, near Warrenton, Jefferson county, in the early part of September, 1787, the Rev.
George Callanhan planted the seed of Ohio Methodism that has grown in a century of four decades to one of the leading Methodist communities of the world.

The Rev. Callanhan's church was not a church in the full sense of the word, but rather was a sturdy block-house erected on the frontier settlement to protect Fort Carpenter from the dangers that lurked in the bordering wilderness.

His congregation, a few score pioneers, assembled in the blockhouse to hear a missionary who probably was the first to set foot on Ohio soil. And as the Rev. Callanhan preached the first Methodist sermon heard in the infant state, fifteen hardy backwoods-men, armed with rifles, tomahawks and scalping knives, stood outside as guardsmen.

His sermon ended, the pioneer settlers extended to Rev. Callanhan a pressing invitation to visit the fort again and he acceded. Later on, in 1793, Francis Clark, a champion of Wesley's creed in Kentucky, came to Fort Washington, where Cincinnati
now stands, and preached to a few people.

These humble beginnings are all that is known of Ohio Methodism
until 1797, and while Callanhan and Clark were credited with introducing the religion to the Buckeye state, the recognized founder of the present
movement was Francis McCormick.

This founder came fresh from two campaigns in the War of the Revolution. He was the pioneer type, tall and robust, and when he crossed the Ohio river from Kentucky in 1797, he built a log cabin at Milford, in Cler-mont county.

He became acquainted with Mr.
Johnson, Philip and Joseph Hill, Ezekiel Dimmitt, John Ramsey and Asel Hitchcock. In his log cabin, and with these acquaintances and their wives as members, he organized the first Methodist church.

Methodism flourished with McCormick's drive for converts. A year after the first class was organized,
Bishop Asbury appointed the Rev.
John Kobler, upon an appeal from Ohio, to form a circuit in that state.

There followed a time in 1801 when
the religious movement was destitute
of itinerant ministers. Local preachers, who were quite numerous in the settlements, then received the aid of many laymen. On August 29, of this year, the first real church edifice was dedicated at a spot nine miles back of Rome, Adams county.

Methodist historians say it was at Vernon, in Trumbull county, that the first church society on the Western Reserve was formed. It had five members. During the third year of the new century the Rev. Shadrach Bostwick was appointed a regular preacher in eastern Ohio.

From 1803, when William Burke
was sent to Ohio by Bishop Asbury to form the first Ohio district, until 1810, the religious movement grew to the proportion of three districts, embodying 21 circuits and 31 preachers.

The first Ohio conference was held in Chillicothe, October, 1812.

Compilations of the Methodist year book for last year indicate that Ohio furnishes greater than one-tenth of the membership of the Methodist churches in the world. The state's full membership during 1925 was 422,790, and its church property included 2,123 church buildings. The total number of Sunday schools was listed as 2,115.

OHIO AUTO ASS'N. WANTS PAVEMENTS THAT WILL LAST

Make Demands That Public Funds Be Not Wasted On Cheap Type.

The Ohio State Automobile Association has filed with the Hempel legislative committee on highways what is termed the "Motorists' Bill of Rights." It amounts to a demand on the state government by the tens of thousands of auto owners, who are affiliated with the Association, for the construction of "lasting pavements"—a kind that will hold up under the present enormous traffic.

"Ohio officials," says the "Bill of Rights," "ought to be able to determine, as well as officials of other states, what kinds of pavement will bear the traffic burden and how to build them soundly. There is no reason why the pavement on state roads should not be strong enough to carry the weights and resist the impacts of passenger cars, trucks and busses without failing. Yet the motorists of Ohio, through their state association, find it necessary to demand lasting pavements and have put their demands in sharp words."

In its statement, the Automobile Association is re-echoing arguments that have been put forth for years by the brick paving interests of Ohio—namely, that it is a waste of public money to build roads that go to pieces soon after they are completed.

It is the contention of the paving brick manufacturers that a highway constructed of vitrified brick, on a solid foundation, will outlast, by many, many years, any other type of paving and will cost the least to maintain over any period of years.

NO RADIO TELEPATHY

Radio telepathy has not yet arrived. Recently more than 2,000,000 radio fans in England were asked to concentrate their minds upon a certain thing—the five of hearts, for instance—and project their combined thought to a committee room in which a small group of representative citizens were locked. They were to cast their fancy with such fervor as to inspire the commission to name the card they had chosen, but the trial was without result. Not one of the committee could name the right card. So it appears that the centralized mind of millions is no more potent than the individual in spanning space.—Los Angeles Times.

Seven-Year Test Made by Nebraska Station.

While there is such a thing as seeding oats too early in the spring, there is no doubt but many farmers are inclined to defer seeding more than seems advisable. Oats are a cool-weather plant, and for that reason the more its growing period can be stretched while the weather is cool the larger will be the yield. The Nebraska experiment station has accumulated some valuable data on this subject in recent years that should be generally known.

In a seven-year test, for example, oats seeded on March 31 averaged 58 bushels per acre; those seeded April 12, 40 bushels; and those seeded April 20, 38 bushels. At the North Platte (Neb.) experiment station in a 14-year test, oats seeded April 8 yielded 23 bushels per acre; those seeded April 18, 25 bushels, and those seeded April 20, 21 bushels.

Average yields of a given crop for periods of seven to fourteen years are pretty reliable and the figures presented above certainly point to early seeding as being very desirable for oats. What may be said about oats in this respect applies equally to barley and spring wheat. It is important, therefore, to have the ground intended for oats or other small grains in shape to rush seeding operations as much as possible after the season for spring work opens.

Farm Inventory Is Very Simple Form of Record

"An inventory can be taken on the average farm in less than half a day, and for the time spent it shows the farmer the most about his business of any records he can keep." This statement is made by Prof. V. B. Hart of the farm management department at the New York State College of Agriculture.

"A farm inventory is the simplest form of farm financial record that can be kept," he says. "The inventory shows the farmer his net worth above debts, and a comparison of two successive annual inventories will show him whether he got ahead during the year. This is the first step to take in putting a farm on a good business basis, and from such an inventory a credit statement can be made to be filed with the bank where the farmer does business."

"Any farmer borrowing money from a bank should file a credit statement with his bank once a year. The banker is a custodian of the funds of his depositors and should not make loans to any but responsible persons. He is entitled to and should have the information which a credit statement gives and this statement also generally gives a farmer a better credit standing at the bank."

The state college at Ithaca has copies of a form for taking an inventory, with spaces provided for all the items. It also contains complete directions for taking the inventory and for making a credit statement, with blanks for two such statements. This can be had free from the college by writing for it.

Ventilation in Chicken
House Quite Important

Chickens need more fresh air for their size than any other farm animal. This is because the moisture other animals exude through the skin and kidneys is in poultry almost entirely given off in breathing. The air of an overcrowded, under-ventilated house quickly becomes foul. The chickens get off the roost in the mornings dull and drugged from bad air.

Even open front houses with three sides closed and open on the south may not provide enough fresh air. A narrow board's width opening along the south side immediately under the rafters improves the circulation with out draft. The curtained openings should be from 30 to 36 inches from the floor. All openings should be arranged for closing if necessary.

Inventory Is Big Aid

The farm inventory is an aid in keeping a record of property that has been lent or misplaced. This is often sufficient justification for taking the inventory, although the information it furnishes concerning the progress made in accumulating farm property is of far greater importance. Many farmers who are keeping a close record of their farm business never fail to take their farm inventory.

Economical Rations

Stock keepers must know the cost of their feeds in order to determine the best and most economical rations. For this reason it is necessary to investigate the cost of making silage. The Missouri Agricultural college last year showed a cost of $5.90 per ton for corn silage. They based this on 26½-bushel yield, crediting the corn with 94 cents per bushel and charging actual costs, which were liberal on all items.

Grub Out Dead Trees

Midwinter is the best time to grub out dead trees in the orchard and saw off large dead branches. These should be at once worked up into stove wood. Apple or cherry wood makes excellent fuel for the fireplace or kitchen stove. If removed from the orchard at this time the hazard of their spreading blister canker or borers to the live trees is avoided.

NAVAL RESERVE
PROGRAM

If the naval reserve is to be fully effective in time of need, its members ought to be able to take charge of a ship and work it. With that idea in mind, the department has outlined a plan for next summer's training cruises of these reservists that promises considerable increase in their efficiency.

Heretofore reservists, going to sea for a two weeks' training trip, have had to serve on ships already in commission, sometimes much of the work being done by the regular crew. Now destroyers out of commission are to be turned over to them and crews on ships in commission will be replaced by entire crews of reservists with only such necessary instructors and officers are required.

Moreover, for the first time, reservists of the Middle West, trained hitherto on the Great Lakes, are to be brought to this port and sent to sea on the destroyers. In this way it is hoped that when the training period is over Uncle Sam will have newly organized and ready for service, in the event of a call, a body of men able to man ships and take them to sea as readily as the crews of the regular service. Such training would make the reservists not merely replacements in naval service, but a real auxiliary of immediate value in time of war.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

COL. HOUSE HIT

Nebraska Democrat Makes Sarcastic Reference to Book of Wilson's Adviser.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Commenting on the polished writings of Edward M. House, for many years personal adviser of President Wilson, Representative Howard, Democrat, Nebraska, suggested in the house yesterday that he be sent for by congress to solve the agricultural relief problem.

It was evident from his writings, Mr. Howard said, "that no great step has ever been taken by our nation without the advice of Mr. House," and that President Wilson "made a mistake every time he didn't act as House would have had him."

Had Colonel House lived earlier, Mr. Howard continued, Ingersoll would not have had to deliver his lecture on the mistakes of Moses, but Moses would not have made any. If Colonel House had been present, the Nebraska representative added, Napoleon would not have deposed Josephine.

Of French Derivation

The name "moire" is applied in the case of silk finished with a watered or clouded effect. It is from the French word meaning wave. The term "watered" and "moire" both are based upon the characteristic appearance, namely, bright and dull in variegated patches, like the wandering of spilled water. The fabric itself sometimes is taffeta, but is usually of a ribbed type as poplin.

Sauerkraut in Canapes.

Take two tablespoons (or one envelope) of gelatine, soften it in a half cup of cold water and dissolve by steaming it over hot water. Add a half cup of cooked salad dressing which has been made with lemon juice instead of vinegar. Add half a can of sauerkraut (saving the rest), two tablespoons finely chopped chives or onions, two tablespoons finely chopped green peppers. Mold in tiny cups. Toast thin slices of stale bread and cut in square or fancy shapes, spread with melted butter and place on this a thin slice of peeled tomato. Unmold the sauerkraut gelatine mixture, cut in thin slices and place them on top of the tomato. Serve as first course of a luncheon.

AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for This Department supplied by the American Legion News Service)

PADEREWSKI GREAT
FRIEND OF LEGION

"The American Legion has no greater friend than Ignace Jan Paderewski," declared John R. McQuigg, national commander of the Legion, recently in pointing out the unusual efforts made by the aging master of the piano in behalf of the Legion's $5,000,000 endowment fund for disabled veterans and orphans of the World war.

The largest individual gift to date to the Legion's endowment fund, $28,487.67, was made by Paderewski. The gift represented the receipts from a series of four concerts at New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Washington. Not only did Paderewski give the entire proceeds of the concerts to the fund, but he also defrayed all the expenses of himself and his large staff.

When President Coolidge, honorary chairman of the Legion's endowment fund, was informed of Paderewski's generous gifts to the fund, he wrote to Commander McQuigg: "I am extremely gratified that the Paderewski concerts added so materially to the Legion endowment fund, and the thanks of all those interested in this fine cause are due to the pianist and to those who had the matter in charge."

In appreciation of Paderewski's efforts for the endowment fund and in recognition of his distinguished World war record generally, the Legion extended him a special tribute when he appeared in concert recently at Indianapolis, where national headquarters of the Legion is located. When the great Pole arrived at the concert hall he was met at the stage entrance by a Legion committee representing Commander McQuigg. Color bearers stood at either side of the entrance bearing the national and Legion colors. The Legion committee occupied a box suitably decorated. Following the concert a floral tribute in behalf of nearly a million Legionnaires was presented.

Following the concert, the Legion expressed to Paderewski the Legion's appreciation for what he had done for the disabled and the orphans of the war. Mr. Paderewski replied:

"I want to express my thanks to the Legion for having been permitted in my small way to show my appreciation for what American soldiers did for honor and service and love of liberty. For you fought not for the Stars and Stripes only, but for the Polish eagle."

Legionnaires Take Jobs
of Illinois Policemen

When a large part of the police force of La Grange, Ill., went on strike recently in sympathy with a chief of police who resigned, it seemed that the town would be unprotected until the American Legion came to its rescue.

The trustees of the village met in special session and issued a call for volunteers. Col. W. M. Curtis, commander of the local American Legion post, responded.

Within a few minutes he had a force of twenty-five Legionnaires on the streets to protect the village from any criminals that might take advantage of an unpoliced city.

"The American Legion responded nobly in this crisis," Trustee W. M. Galvin said. "Within a few minutes after part of the police force quit we had Legionnaires patrolling the streets and they stuck to their posts until regular officers could be sworn in."

Son Killed in War;

Impostor Is Detected

Rev. and Mrs. Charles Frazier of South Dakota have apparently at last accepted the finding of a federal jury that their son, Arthur, was killed in the World war and buried in a Nebraska cemetery. Through a long controversy they maintained their belief that a man claiming to be their son was really Arthur, even after the jury found that he was an impostor. Advice reaching Minnesota Legionnaires indicate that the couple have applied for federal and state bonuses as beneficiaries of Arthur.

Arithmetic

A benevolent old gentleman (Isn't it the darndest how they always crop up in a story?) noticed a small boy burst into tears after he had dropped a dime down a grating. "Never mind, little man," he comforted. "I'll give you another dime." "But then," wailed the youngster, bursting into a fresh spasm, "I'd have had twenty cents if I hadn't lost one. Wawawahoo!"—American Legion Weekly.

Supplied

Noticing a pretty new face in his congregation, the minister was bound to display a cordial interest.

"We are pleased to have you here," he told her politely. "If you will give me your name and address I shall be happy to call."

"Cut it, doc," retorted the flapper, wearily. "I've got a sheik."—American Legion Weekly.

OMAHA, NEB.,
IN ITS MIDST
HAS "SNIPER"

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 19.—(UP.)—Omaha's fear of its "maniac sniper" increased today when it was learned two more persons have been fired upon.

John Fitzhenry, a sailor from Detroit, reported today that he had scarcely arrived in Omaha, last night before he heard a bullet fly past his ear.

John Turner, a negro janitor, reported a similar attack.

Dr. A. D. Searles, a prominent physician and Wm. McDevitt so far are the only victims of the "sniper" who have been fatally wounded. Dr. Searles was slain in his office yesterday and McDevitt was killed Sunday evening.

Several persons previously reported incidents similar to last night's attacks upon Fitzhenry and Turner.

The sniper's activities indirectly brought another death today when Frank Pesek, 45, succumbed to heart failure as he was discussing the crimes. Physicians said fear may have caused the man's death.

WASHINGTON
SPECIALS

Washington, Feb. 19.—(UP.)

—An indication that Democrats in the House might withdraw their support from the Dickinson farm relief bill was given today when Rep. Oldfield, Dem., Ark., introduced the Robinson export corporation bill. The bill as Oldfield presented it was modified to include provision for a schedule of bounties to be paid to farm co-operative associations and other exporters.

A resolution directing Secretary of State Kellogg to furnish the house with all information in its possession on the expulsion and treatment of American citizens in Mexico, was introduced today by Rep. Fairchild, New York, Republican. Fairchild's resolution referred to the expulsion of American clergymen from Mexico and the recent Tia Juana incident.

Loans to brokers and dealers, secured by stocks and bonds, made by sixty-one banks in New York City amounted to $3,137,588,000 during the week of Feb. 10, the federal reserve board announced today.

Original "America"

The name America was originally used only for a portion of central Brazil, the territory explored by Vesputius in his voyages to the New World. It was first employed for the entire western world by Mercator in 1541.

Great Lakes "High Seas"

The controversy regarding the status of the Great Lakes was settled in November 20, 1903, when the Supreme Court of the United States handed down a decision that the term "high seas" justly applied to them.

PRISONERS
ESCAPE JAIL

Pikesville, Ky., Feb. 19.—(UP.)—Barricaded somewhere in the hills surrounding Pikeville, thirteen prisoners who escaped from the county jail during the night, successfully evaded capture today.

The prisoners sawed through the top bars of their cell block, climbed through a trap door to the roof and fled.

The fleeing men were trailed to the hills where they are believed to have established a refuge and will resist any efforts to capture them.

TAX SETTLEMENT.

Pickaway county stands eleventh in the list in making its tax returns and settlement with the state.

Humidity

Relative humidity is the ratio of the amount of invisible water vapor in a given volume of air, to the amount that would make this air saturated at the same temperature. In short, it is the ratio between the amount of invisible vapor present to the maximum amount that could be present at the same temperature. In measuring humidity only the invisible water vapor is considered, and not the drops of rain or droplets of fog.

Ornamental Boots Are in Limelight

Decorated Footwear Is Indorsed by Women of Paris Stage.

The Paris bottlers are already launching their spring and summer campaign, and it is evident that there will be a strong effort to popularize the ornamental shoe. Simple shoes, writes a fashion correspondent in the New York Herald-Tribune, which have been most synonymous with short skirts, have basked long enough in the spotlight, according to the French bootmakers, and a trend toward unique and unusual footwear is already under way.

For Riviera sojourners Hellstern is making evening footwear in black satin, trimmed with pink, in gold and silver tinsel brocades, often combined with colored kid, and in satin of various shades of brown arranged so as to grade from light to dark—a novelty into the making of which blond kid also enters. Perugia favors orchid and silver brocade, pastel shades in kid and hand-painted satin. Juliette, the woman shoemaker, places her faith in ruby red satin with plaits running the length of the shoe, as well as in cocoa, cinnamon and light sandstone brocade with a cubist design, combined with plain sandstone colored satin and ornamented with translucent sandstones—amber in color and flecked with gold, these latter forming a button.

The stage provides another fertile background for ornate footwear and leading French actresses are exploiting the most novel types of shoes. Quite a sensation was created recently when one of the most charming actresses of the Ambigu theater appeared in a pair of the new enameled shoes which are being made by Hellstern. The process of enameling is said to be a secret one. The lady's footwear was enameled gold and white, entirely on kid with the exception of the straps of black patent, on which was an enameling of golden flowers. The angles of the black cubic heels were emphasized with lines of gold.

Some very striking new shoes are to be seen at the Theatre de Paris, and one prominent actress as a young sportswoman wears oxfords of red box calf with lizard toe caps and two narrow bands of lizard skin within a centimeter of the collar.

Some telling combinations of colors are being featured by another actress at the Theater Francaise. In one act she appears in gray kid with a very large tab attached by three blue enameled buttons. Over the instep is an edging of blue, while blue lines ornament the gray heels. Her evening shoes in another act are partly blond kid, partly chestnut doeskin, with a blond tortoise shell buckle on the vamp.

Belts Are Decorative; Trimmed With Ornaments

Belts are smartly decorative this season, as may be seen by the one above. Many are hand-cut and trimmed with appropriate metal ornaments.

Rose Colors Promised Favorites for Spring

The piquant contrast the fashions of this particular season afford makes it one of the most interesting periods of the year. Side by side with the winter modes that have survived are resort fashions that have the charm of novelty and a certain appeal that is due as much as anything else to their clear, fresh colorings.

The early prediction that spring would be a season of light shades is borne out in the models introduced for the South. Fashion apparently will look upon the world through rose-colored glasses, for the shades of rose both in the beige tones and pink are much in evidence throughout the entire spring collection.

For street wear the varied tones of bords de rose are exploited both in costumes fashioned of silk and those developed in the new light woolsens. These last are unusually handsome and are chosen for smart travel coats whose straight lines are a contrast to the flared effects which held sway during the winter.

Velveteen and Jersey

Velveteen and Jersey are combined very delightfully in sports clothes. Usually the velvet is darker in tone than the jersey.

GRAPHIC STORY OF TWO INTREPID MOONSHINERS

Gasoline Fumes Explode and Kills One and Burns the Feet Off the Other.

Athens, O., Feb. 22, (UP). — A graphic story of how two intrepid moonshiners, trapped in a cavern in the Pone Ridge district, fought a losing battle with fire and how one of them was killed and the other's feet burned off, was brought to Athens today by prohibition agents.

The agents were Frank Leniger, 26, who was killed and his brother, Amos, 23, whose feet were burned off, according to the agents. The brothers were from Kentucky.

Called to the Pone Ridge district by reports that "something was wrong in a cave," the prohibition officers were not prepared for what they found.

High up on the rock slopes of a hill they found the unconscious form of Amos Leniger, his feet charred from his body. The officers then discovered a cave nearby and defying their heavy outer garments, entered the subterranean chamber.

At the end of the tunnel, the officers came upon a complete distilling apparatus, the charred body of Frank Leniger lying nearby. Fumes from a gasoline stove had exploded, killing Leniger and igniting his clothing.

Amos had dragged himself into the open.

In the cavern were a half score of large barrels filled with mash. The cave had been equipped for living quarters and had been in use for months.

Carbide lamps, such as those used by miners, formed the lighting apparatus. The still and barrels had been taken into the cave in pieces and assembled.

Few Live Without Cooks

At the present time it is doubtful whether there are any people who do not use some process of preparing or cooking food. The extremely far Northern Eskimos habitually eat their meat in a raw state, other food consisting entirely of uncooked fruit or berries. But it has been found that even these tribes occasionally thaw out frozen meat through a partial process of boiling.

GIGANTIC RUM RING NETTED MILLIONS

WEALTHY MEN OPERATING MANY BIG DISTILLERIES

Four Philadelphia Millionaires, "the Wall Street of the Rum Ring," Pulled Strings In Nationwide Alcohol Conspiracy Unearthed by Cleveland Grand Jury—Forty Arrests Made and More Than One Hundred Are Likely To Be Involved.

An alcohol ring that did a total business of $1,000,000 weekly, operate a chain of huge distilleries, suborned a score of federal, state and city employees and had for its head four Philadelphia millionaires of high financial social standing has been revealed in Cleveland by two weeks of federal investigation.

Before many days, District Attorney A. E. Bernstein hopes to have indicted between twenty and one hundred persons for as many as a hundred, overt acts connected with the alleged conspiracy.

Forty arrests have been made in the case and more than a hundred are likely to be involved, it has been consistently stated. Among those who are still sought are said to be four Philadelphia millionaires—"the Wall Street of the Rum Ring."

Among those definitely involved to date are internal revenue officers, heads and employees of industrial alcohol companies, railroad employees, automobile transfer men, truck drivers, former policemen and bootleggers already sentenced in other cases.

Stories emanating from the district attorney's office from time to time indicate the following operations of the "rum ring":

The conspiracy was headed by four Philadelphia millionaires. Associated with the millionaires were thirty others who controlled 75 per cent of the alcohol business in the United States, regulating the price from coast to coast.

Fifteen distilleries were operated by the "ring," producing $1,000,000 worth of alcohol each week, at the distillery prices.

The output was sold to wholesalers for $140,000,000 a year, and retailing at $10 to $20 a gallon brought the country's alcohol bill for liquor from this one source to over $500,000,000 a year.

Nine hundred thousand gallons of alcohol were manufactured each week, or 46,800,000 gallons a year.

Initial establishment of two distilleries in Pennsylvania, two in Maryland and one in Kentucky was followed by establishment of subsidiaries in various cities to sell the product at wholesale.

Distilleries and subsidiary organizations were established under protection of local authorities and thru political influences.

Later redistilling plants were established to convert the eastern-produced denatured product into marketable beverage form.

Cleveland was chosen as a redistilling and distribution point because of its lake and railroad facilities and its central location.

A redistilling plant was operated

in Philadelphia under the guise of a perfume factory.

Chicago was a main distributing point for Illinois and Indiana with branches in smaller cities in these states.

St. Paul and Minneapolis sheltered a ring which supplied neighboring cities and supervised distribution to the Pacific Coast.

Philadelphia received 150,000 gallons of alcohol a week on a conservative estimate.

Drums of alcohol containing one hundred gallons were "watered" to make as much as 200 to 300 gallons so as to increase distribution and profits.

UNIQUE CELEBRATION.

Columbus, Feb. 22 (UP) "University Day" this year was celebrated in an unique manner at Ohio State university. This tradition, nearly fifty years old, was held chiefly up among the clouds.

The program broadcast from WEO began at 3 p. m., Eastern Standard time, and was exclusively of a patriotic nature commemorating Washington's birthday. WEO operates on a wave length of 294 meters. Heretofore the observance of "University Day" centered around a formal program in the university chapel with noted speakers giving addresses. The Acting President George W. Rightmire, of the university, radiocast a brief address. Other speakers on the program, arranged by Ohio State university professors and prominent alumni.

"University Day" was instituted in 1882 by Ohio State students.

SOLD TO GYPSY

Sold for $2,000 to the king of a band of gypsies seven months ago, Rose Dalena, sixteen, a Spanish girl, was found roaming aimlessly about Newark, N. J., at the height of a recent snowstorm. She was taken to a charitable institution for protection while her case is being studied.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

The following women from this city and county were assisting hostesses at the Washington day banquet, of the Women's Republican club at the Neil House, Columbus, today: Mrs. H. G. Chappellear and Mrs. Jay Wall, chairman. The speakers will be Mrs. Jessie Adler, assistant prosecuting attorney of Hamilton county and Judge Edward S. Hatthias of the supreme court.

New Bombing Planes Being Built for United States

Highly advanced bombing planes, including a superdreadnaught of the air, to be called the "Cyclops" and to be the largest of its kind in the world, are being secretly constructed for the United States government by the Huff-Deland Airplane company at Bristol, Pa. In another part of the shop a special fleet of light bombers is rapidly nearing completion. This latter type will be known as "Pegasus." The illustration shows men at work on wings for the "Pegasus" planes.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR STATE

Taken Direct From the Wires by Correspondents of the United States Press Association.

Columbus—Harry S. Day, state treasurer, was the luncheon speaker at the eighth annual convention of the Ohio Federation of Postoffice Clerks at the Hotel Chittenden. National representatives also addressed the gathering.

Liberalization of the retirement law and the abolition of night work were the chief issues discussed at the meetings, as were measures for the improvement of the postal service and better working conditions.

Cleveland—At its convention here last Thursday, F. B. Martin, of Mansfield, became the new president of the Ohio Hardware association. Robert Martin, of Ottawa, was chosen vice president, and James B. Carson, secretary and John F. Baker, treasurer. Directors were also named for the coming year.

Columbus—"The Bulletin of Business Research," a monthly publication issued primarily for Ohio business men, made its appearance here today.

Offering a summary of current business conditions, the bulletin will also include statistical data on the preceding month's business in various lines.

Dr. Spurgeon Bell, director of the bureau, formerly dean of the commerce school at the University of Texas, is editor of the Bulletin. It is issued monthly.

Solon.—While other members of the family were sleeping, Miss Hazel Howell shot and killed her aged mother, Mrs. Nancy Howell, in their home here Monday then turned the weapon on herself. She died a few moments later.

Miss Howell had been under observation for six weeks. She was discharged from the city hospital only last Friday. Authorities said they believed she was insane.

"IS FARMING A BUSINESS?"

Renick W. Dunlap, assistant secretary of agriculture, will speak in Columbus this evening before the mid-winter meeting of the Ohio Bankers' association upon "Is Farming a Business?"

UNDERWENT OPERATION.

Irvin Toles Friday underwent an operation for the removal of adenoids. Dr. C. G. Stewart performed the operation.

General Happenings Taken From the Records of the Various County Offices.

Will of A. E. Weaver. The will of Alonzo E. Weaver has been probated.

The testator gives to his wife, Julia F. Weaver during her lifetime the home farm in Walnut township, and after his death to his daughters; Lulu B. Marion, Edith Marion and Mary Ater in equal shares.

He gives to his wife all the household goods, automobile and dividends in the Citizens' bank, of Ashville and the Ashville Grain company and one thousand dollars in government bonds.

The stock in the Citizens' bank is given to his grandsons, Alonzo and Gerald Marion in equal shares and the stock in the Ashville Grain company is divided equally among his three grand children; Alonzo, Gerald and Kathryn Marion. He also gives his father's gold watch to Alonzo Marion and to each of his children he gives one thousand dollars in government bonds.

The remainder of the property is to be converted into cash and divided equally among his wife and three children.

Alonzo Marion was named and appointed executor without bond. The will was written January 24, 1925, and was witnessed by Everett Seeds and George W. Morrison. The court appointed the following appraisers; J. N. Hedges, J. B. Cromley and Ludwig Oesterle.

Suit Dismissed.

The partition suit of Maggie Viney against James Ramey and others in the common pleas court has been settled and dismissed and the following entry placed upon the journal:

"This day this cause came on to be heard upon the petition of the plaintiff, the answers of Mary E. Dunlap, James Ramey, Martha Reamey and the joint answer of John C. Dunlap et al, and upon the evidence and was argued by counsel, thereupon the court finds by and with the consent of the parties that the plaintiff, Maggie Viney, is not a child and heir at law of Charles H. Dunlap, deceased, and is not entitled to partition of the premises described in the petition.

"Is it, therefore, ordered that the petition of the plaintiff is hereby dismissed and by consent of the parties a final and complete record is ordered dispensed with."

C. H. LEWIS ENTERS RACE.

Lieutenant Governor Charles H. Lewis, Harpster, in a speech at Kenton Friday night, announced that he had decided to enter the race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in the August primaries.

Lewis is the fourth to announce his candidacy. The others are Secretary of State Thad H. Brown, Mrs. Evelyn Frances Snow, of Mt. Vernon, and Thomas W. Latham, of Monroeville.

SAW TAME DEER.

Mrs. W. H. Foresman of Pleasant street, was out in Forest cemetery Sunday afternoon and had the pleasure of seeing the deer that has been roaming over this section of the county for the past few weeks. The animal came from St. Joseph's cemetery and came to within thirty feet of Mrs. Foresman and stopped for a moment.

ISN'T HE A BEAUTY?

Allen F. Maybee of Kalamazoo, Mich., has been voted the handsomest senior at Columbia university, but he is not proud of the distinction, and declares that the man who "accuses" him of being this will be "socked." Maybee is the leader of the university glee club.

GRANGE MEETING.

Last Saturday the Pickaway Pomona Grange was entertained by Nebraska Grange at the Walnut township school building with about 125 in attendance. In addition to the regular order of business a good musical program consisting of both instrumental and vocal selections was enjoyed by all present.

WRECKLESS AUTO DRIVER.

Cecil Clark was placed under arrest this morning and was slated as a wreckless driver.

Athletic Club Gym Held a Record Breaking Crowd—More Good Games.

The C. A. C. Gym was jammed to the scuppers Saturday morning and afternoon, the occasion being the lifting off the lid of the Pickaway County Basketball tournament. It was probably the largest crowd that ever has been seen on the local court.

The morning play was given over to the boys' games and in the afternoon to the young women athletes. All the games were interesting and especially so to the rabid followers of the teams engaged.

Officials were Mr. Seddon and Mr. Spangler of Ohio State.

The Monroe boys won a close game from Saltcreek by a 11 to 10 score. This game required an overtime period. The only score was the result of a foul.

New Holland bested Scioto in one of the best high school games ever played on the C. A. C. floors. The game was in doubt up to the last minute. No more than four points separated the teams at any one time. The game ended New Holland 26, Scioto 20.

Lyons, left guard, was the star of the game, making 15 of the team's points. Cook, big center for New Holland played a splendid game, as back guard. Trego was Scioto's main cog, with Furnis a capable running mate.

Williamsport surprised many by holding Pickaway to a tie until the final minutes, when Enoch and Rittinger gathered several pretty shots and put them in the lead 22-15 at the final whistle. Enoch played best for Pickaway, while Radcliff and Lanman played best for Williamsport.

Next Saturday morning Muhlenberg will meet Ashville, Monroe will tie in with Jackson and New Holland and Perry will battle.

In the afternoon four girls' games were played. All games were very good and enthusiasm ran high among the supporters of the different teams.

New Holland won from Ashville by the score of 17 to 6 in a good game in which the accurate shooting of Kirk was the feature.

The Deercreek girls took the game from Pickaway by a 22 to 6 score. Noble, of Deercreek, was the star and showed a nice eye for the net.

Monroe lost to Muhlenberg by the score of 10 to 15 in a nice game which was exceptionally swift for girls.

Scioto won the game with Jackson with a 10 to 6 score. The Scioto girls staged a great up-hill battle to win this game. Jackson led most of the first half, but was well down in the final period.

Friday evening of next week New Holland against Saltcreek and Muhlenberg against Walnut.

DISMISS THE CASE AGAINST THE TEACHER

The charge against Professor O. S. Thacker, principal of the public schools, arrested on the charge of assault and battery on Joseph Rooney, a student, has been dismissed.

It is understood that the affidavit, under which the principal was arrested, is faulty, in that the city has no ordinance covering a charge of this kind. It is thought the matter will be dropped. The young student apparently is getting along nicely. He was in attendance at the basketball game at the public school and dance at the C. A. C. last week.

WHAT IS TO BE DONE?
"A very difficult question," the President calls the traffic casualties of the time. The figures that he cites—24,000 persons killed in a year upon the streets and highways of the country, and probably more than 500,000 injured. This means that over a period of the same length as our participation in the world war Americans are losing three-fourths as many lives on streets and roads as they lost to German bullets, and running up in addition a non-fatal casualty list thrice as great as they did abroad.
"The president has asked all the governors to appoint delegates to a national safety convention to assemble in March. While we know of no formula to meet the situation he has outlined the conference may write history by focusing public attention on the national aspects of a problem made up of a multitude of incidents at street corners and cross roads. Many communities are at work seeking and applying remedies.
The figures set forth in this article certainly ought to be a very convincing argument for

Great Progress in 1925 Will Be Shown at National Convention, November 11-19.

Many thousands of young men and young women have signed the Patriotic Roll of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union during the past year, declaring their loyalty to the Constitution of the United States and their promise to work for better enforcement of all laws.

This enrollment together with a children's allegiance pledge signed by 1,000,000 American school children, will be shown at the fifty-first convention of the National W. C. T. U., which will meet in Detroit, November 11-19.

Young men and young women of high school and college years throughout the United States are showing great enthusiasm for the educational program of the W. C. T. U. and are eager supporters of the prohibition laws, according to Miss Anna A. Gordon of Evanston, Ill., national president of the White Ribbon organization.

Pointing out that 1925 is "Youth's Year" in the W. C. T. U. calendar, Miss Gordon said today that "the attitude of the young people towards prohibition when they understand its basic soundness, is gratifying. They are eager to learn how they can help law enforcement in their own communities and their response to our appeal for the enlistment of the coming generation in the dry ranks has been magnificent."

"Our line-up with living issues" will be the subject of Miss Gordon's annual address in which she will show the part the W. C. T. U. is taking today in all branches of activity affecting the welfare of women and children and how its departments of citizenship, legislation, scientific temperance investigation, child welfare, social morality, Americanization, peace, and some twenty others, are contributing to a united effort to make this a better world.

International night will be one of the high points of the convention program as representatives from other countries will be present and border problems will be discussed when W. C. T. U. and enforcement officials from both Canada and the United States speak. Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury and Mrs. Gordon Wright, president of the Canadian W. C. T. U. will address the convention on this evening. Representatives from other countries include Miss Michi Sembongi, Japan; Miss Isabel McCorkindale, Australia; Miss Mary Campbell, India; Miss P. Kassabova, Bulgaria and Miss Amy Spalding from the Orient. Miss Spalding has a particularly spectacular story in that she was living in Shanghai during the days when the city was thronged with soldiers of opposing factions and all China was in turmoil.

Michigan Night when well-known residents of the Wolverine state will speak, and Youth's Night when a dramatic presentation of the Patriotic Rolls is made, will be other featured events on the program. The Rev. Lynn Harold Hough of the Central M. E. Church will preach the annual convention sermon, Nov. 18. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt and Fred B. Smith will be among the speakers at the get-together dinner held Nov. 12 at the Statler Hotel, the official headquarters of the convention which will hold its business sessions at the Woodward Avenue Baptist Church.

Miss Anna A. Gordon, president and Dr. Ella A. Boole of New York, vice-president, will alternate in presiding over convention sessions. Mrs. Frances P. Parks, corresponding secretary, will present a report showing the growth of the organization since the convention met in Detroit 42 years ago, and Mrs. Margaret C. Munns, treasurer, will give figures to show how the W. C. T. U. spends its money. Mrs. Elizabeth Preston Anderson of N. D., recording secretary and Mrs. Sara Hoge of Lincoln, W. Va., assistant recording secretary, will give interesting sidelights on law enforcement in their respective states.

LOANS up to $500

The average credit terms quoted on a commodity sold on the payment plan are always in favor of the seller. For example—if you pay faster than your contract provides, the seller gets the advantage. On the other hand, if you fail to pay as regularly as you should, you run the risk of losing your auto, or furniture, or piano, or sewing machine, or sweeper, or whatever it is, and all the money you have previously paid on it may be charged up against you as rent. Under the City Loan plan, you pay for the exact time you use the money and the cost is reduced with each payment. Thus it can be seen that City Loan credit terms are in favor of the borrower, with every inducement for him to pay back as fast as he can. Failure to pay, for good cause, is always given fair consideration.

The Vogue of Velvet Predominates This Season Even to the Accessories That Complete the Costume

Chairs Windsor, one of the best dressed women of the screen, in a chic new velvet coat trimmed with ermine, which she wears in "Dance Madness," her next Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production.

"To be in velvet," as someone recently remarked, "is to be in vogue." Everything this season is fashioned of velvet or combined with velvet, from practical every day jumper frocks of sturdy velveteen to sumptuous evening gowns and wraps of lustrous chiton velvet.

Striking effects are achieved through the combination of velvet and other fabrics. Lame, silver and gold brocades, metal cloths and other rich materials so much in vogue this season are effectively combined with velvet in the very smart jumper frock that is now the rage as well as in a superb combination. Contrast the wrap of white velvet worn with the dinner or evening gown of black.

For afternoon wear, one of the smartest costumes which effectively combines the chic of velvet with the striking effect of black and white, is the popular velvet coat trimmed with ermine. Claire Windsor, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer player, wears a very smart costume of this kind in "Dance Madness," her next production. The coat of black velvet, illustrated above, is smartly bordered with ermine, and a chic upturned hat of black velvet completes the costume.

In keeping with the vogue of velvet and to complement the ensemble effect which makes the well-groomed woman today, accessories blending with the costume are being fashioned of velvet.

Illustrated above are a few of the new accessories in smart Fifth Avenue shops. The underarm bag of velvet adds to its beauty by being trimmed with gold leather and stitched in gold; a velvet cigarette case set in a silver frame has a brilliant rhinestone monogram, and the stunning looking velvet pumps have extremely attractive pearl buckles in which black velvet squares are inserted. Many of the new hand made flower worn so smartly on the shoulders of evening gowns or on the lapels of winter coats, are fashioned of velvet in brilliantly blending shades.

LOAN SHARKS HAVE BEEN KNOCKED OUT OF OHIO

Columbus, Feb. 20.—(Special.)—The loan shark virtually has been driven out of Ohio.

This statement was made by Cyrus Locher, state director of commerce, in announcing that the state has granted 246 chattel loan licenses, an increase of 16 over a year ago.

"The elimination of the loan shark," said Mr. Locher, "has been brought about largely through the activities of the blue sky department, with the co-operation of the Ohio industrial lenders, banks and building and loan associations.

Industrial lenders operate in Ohio under the provisions of the Lloyd act and reports are made to the department of commerce. Loans are made on chattels to the extent of $300, the interest rate being fixed by law and determined by scientific actuarial computations.

Investigation has revealed that about 85 per cent of the people have no collateral that would be accepted at banks as security for loans and the industrial loan business has been established for the purpose of accommodating this class of citizens.

Money borrowed from industrial lenders finds its way back, it is declared, to local merchants in payment of small accounts, although there are many instances where the money has been used as a down payment on a lot and formed the nucleus of a fund with which to erect a home.

Co-operation between the Ohio Industrial Lenders' Association, and the department of commerce, it was declared today, has placed the small loan business on a substantial basis, enabling one without banking credit to obtain funds at lawful rates of interest to tide them over in cases of emergency.

Florida Pineapple State

Florida is the only state in which the pineapple is successfully raised for commercial purposes in this country, as the pineapple is close to a tropical fruit. The pineapple is a fruit of the pineapple plant, which grows from two to four feet high. The individual plant produces only a single fruit, which varies in size from four to ten inches in diameter.

E. R. DEFFENBAUGH FRACTURES LIMB

Mr. Emmett Deffenbaugh, of Rosebank, former Buckeye Lake Park promoter, fell this morning, at his home, and broke his left leg between the knee and thigh.

Mr. Deffenbaugh was taken to the Lancaster hospital and treated by Drs. Plum and Mondhank, while Dr. Ralph Smith made an X-ray of the fracture. It was discovered that the broken bone was diseased, the result of a railroad wreck, several years ago, in which Mr. Deffenbaugh incurred a fracture of the same limb.—Lancaster Eagle.

ANTI-KISSING AND PETTING CRUSADE

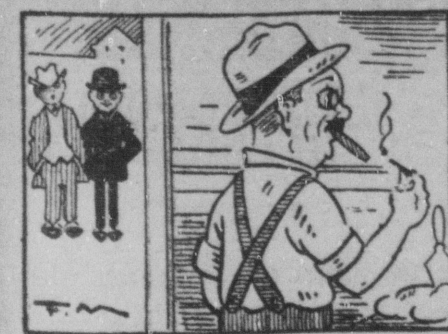

Los Angeles, Calif., Feb. 20.—(U.P.)—Flaming youth, feminine side, organized here today in an anti-petting crusade.

A thousand high school girls pledged they would give up "petting and spooning," form a society, adopt anti-hugging resolutions and present their "boy friends" with copies.

The vow was taken by the girls following a lecture by Dr. Chas. E. Barker of Rotary International, given under the auspices of the California federation of women's clubs.

"Every young woman owes a direct responsibility to her unborn babe," he said, after discussing existing "immoralities."

KINNEARS TOO MUCH FOR THE C. A. C. TEAM

Most Enjoyable Game Was Won by Visitors by the Score of 38 to 23.

The Athletic Club Gym was the scene of a mighty enjoyable game of basketball Saturday night, when the C. A. C. boys played against the well known Columbus Kinnears.

The score was 38 to 23 in favor of the visitors, not thru any lack of fight or ability on the part of our boys, but simply that the Kinnears were the better team.

However, it wasn't nearly the easy thing that some looked for, and that is more of a brag on the Roundtown team than a knock for the Kinnears. The unavoidable absence of Johnny Miner and Deacon Lynch undoubtedly hurt the visitors, but Circleville has a right to be proud of her representatives, anyhow. They showed a lot of fight all the way thru and proved themselves to be a real good basketball team, even in defeat.

Mel Shaw was high score, from his guard position scoring seven goals from field. However, he allowed Jim Gatrell to get in six for next high. Robinson played his usual, able game at guard, and the entire club team played the floor well and all contributed to the score.

The well known running mates, Chic Harley and Pete Stinchcomb, filled the forward positions for the visitors, and played a bang-up game. Andy Nemecek's giant form was always easily in evidence, while Bobby Shea scored ten points and guarded well, tho a trifle roughy.

The visitors got the jump at the start and run up a score of 16 to 9 before the Club boys had gotten over their preliminary nervousness. However, the local lads soon came back strong and allowed the visitors only two points in the second quarter, while running the count up to 18 to 12 by the end of the half. Soon after the beginning of the second half it was 19 to 16 in favor of the Kinnears, but this was as close as it ever got, and the visitors gradually pulled away.

The crowd was one of the largest ever accommodated in the Club Gym, and all were pleased with the contest. The Kinnears are nearly all Ohio State men and two are All-American.

A large crowd enjoyed the jitney dance after the game. Music was by the High-Jinks orchestra, of Columbus.

The Kinnears will play Olson's Terrible Swedes on the C. A. C. floor on March 6. This game has caused a lot of talk already, and there is no doubt at all that it will be a classic in Circleville sports.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Scientist Also Notes Decrease of Little Toe Bones.

Baltimore, Md.—Tendency of the human ear to become smaller, except the lobe, which remains a kind of provision of nature "to give women something to hang ornaments on," was cited among other things by Dr. Adolph Schultz as demonstrating in his opinion the present-day working of evolution. Decreasing number of small bones in the little toe and the passing of the wisdom tooth are others.

Doctor Schultz is associate in anthropology in Johns Hopkins Medical school and is widely known for his research concerning the bodily structure of man as compared with the primates.

For the edification of man—and woman, too—who is prone to believe that he is perhaps a perfect specimen, Doctor Schultz enumerated the following as not certainly but quite likely to be wrong with him:

His eyes are not in the same horizontal plane.

His ears are not of the same size.

His collar bone is not symmetrical.

"Man, however, is not the only one of the higher animals to show a difference from the primitive ancestor," Doctor Schultz said. "The ears of the orang-outang, for instance, are small, and its big toe is only a stump of what it once was. Of course its mental powers do not compare with those of man, but the orang-outang probably has made as much progress away from the original ancestor as man has."

Make Strong Linen of Human Hair Mixture

Amiens, France.—The manufacture of strong linen for the filtering of extra heavy oils and other fats is the latest use found for millady's beautiful hair.

The supply of women's hair being totally inadequate to meet the demand of the manufacturers, it is now being mixed with hair obtained in China from the fast disappearing queues of modern celestials.

The carding, spinning and weaving of human hair for the manufacture of cloth is an industry just established here, but which has made great strides. The cloth or linen obtained from very close weaving of hair is virtually untearable and is in demand by refining plants and distillers of heavy oils, which require that the cloth used as filters be subjected to a very high tension.

Several washing operations are required before the hair can be sent to the carding room. Thereafter it is handled just like wool and woven on special looms.

Holds Office 46 Years

Unionville Centre, Ohio.—John Peter Krittline, ninety-one, has been re-elected treasurer of this village, rounding out 46 continuous years in that job, and establishing what he believes to be a new Ohio record for longevity in elective office.

$1,000 to Canary

Los Angeles, Cal.—When the will of Mrs. August L. Marr was read it was found she had provided for her pet canary. She instructed that $1,000 be invested at 6 per cent, the interest to go to the support of her pet.

Rat Hide Brings $3.50 at Sale to Fur Dealer

Victoria.—Rat hides are valuable, especially if they are of a large size, but this fact was not known in Victoria until a few days ago when Juan Bernal shot a large wood rat out of a tree west of the river.

The rat was half the size of an opossum and a local dealer paid $3.50 for the hide.

PSYCHOLOGY VALUABLE AND INTERESTING

Average Man or Woman May Derive Much Good From Its Intelligent Study.

"Psychology is no Aladdin's lamp," says Everett Dean Martin in his reading course, Psychology and Its Use, which has recently been added to the shelves of the Circleville Public library. Having firmly established the fact that "it is not for those who wish to get something for nothing," he goes on to show how psychology can be studied and used in such a way as to be of genuine value to the average man or woman.

This brief introduction of 32 pages is followed by the reading course itself, seven books in all, recommended by Mr. Martin for consecutive reading. This is the tenth course in the "Reading with a Purpose" series published by the American Library association. Like the course on psychology, each number of the series is written by an acknowledged authority who introduces the subject and recommends a few books to direct the reader's interest.

Courses which have appeared previously are: Biology, English Literature, Some Great American Books, Sociology and Social Problems (ten Pivotal Figures of History, Conflicts in American Public Opinion, Ears to Hear; A Guide for Music Lovers, Our Children and Frontiers of Knowledge. Other subjects will follow about one a month.

The courses are available at the Public Library and if notice is given the librarian, the library will endeavor to supply the books as needed.

Ostrich Trimmed Gown

THE novel feature of this peach chiffon frock, worn by Kathleen Key, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer player, is the skirt. Very long ostrich feathers, uncurled, cover the skirt and fall below the hem. They are attached at the low waist line with pearl beads, and strands of pearl beads also hang from the waist to below the hem. A large ostrich feather ornament on the hip completes this attractive gown.

If history can be depended upon the earliest of the old-time fiddlers was Nero.—Detroit News.

Dress of Black Satin Has Suspender Straps

Georgette Is Popular for Evening Apparel

For evening wear, georgette, because of its variety of color in so many subtle shades, is the choice of many. It may be embroidered in beaded designs, plaited, flounced with lace or trimmed with any of the new metallic ribbons as well as with flowers and feathers, now so much in vogue for the evening gown.

Sports wear includes many materials, among them tussah and shantung weaves. Plaids after the style of Scotch glinghams in all-over effects or as border are shown. A washable sports silk strongly resembles covert cloth, with its white flecks and horizontal weave. This silk comes only in the light colors and is guaranteed sun fast. Another good feature about it is that it may be washed with any kind of soap.

For coats there are three classes. Those of the light kasha weaves for general wear, the heavy crocheted or hand-loomed effects in plaid designs for sports wear and the heavy fallie silks with satin backs for dressy wear. This new ribbed silk includes all the light spring shades as well as black and navy.

Wool and cotton tapestry overnight bags are a recent innovation among the smart woman's accessories. Naturally enough, the fashion for carrying these bags had its genesis along the Riviera, where several smart Parisiennes were seen carrying bags of this sort, and some of them have already worked their way over to these shores. The typical tapestry overnight bag, which is an outgrowth of the old-fashioned carpetbag, measures about twelve inches square. The tapestry, which comes in such mixtures as brown, rose and green, tan and blue and tan and brown, as well as red with tan and blue, is mounted on a covered frame whose corners are rounded just a trifle. The handle and bottom of the bag are of leather, in either a matching or a contrasting shade. It is lined throughout with a practical shade of tan rubberized silk, which makes the bag a practical and smart affair for beach wear. It is also most convenient for shopping and when motoring, because it is very soft and flexible.

The skirts of two-piece frocks show a decided trend toward plaited treatments. There is seemingly no limit to the style or arrangement of these plaitings.

The simplest form is certainly the all-around plaited skirt which if obvious is smart as well. Then cluster effects are good, groups of tiny plaits alternating with plain spaces. Some of these are wide enough to have the look of panels. One plaited skirt of a jumper frock goes so far as to have plaited separate panels posed over a plaited underskirt.

There is a decided movement toward fancy or novelty plaitings, tiny box plaits set in between side plaits, and pressed-over effects that give a sort of pattern to a plaited section or panel. There is not a great deal of fullness involved in these treatments, but they do provide some extra width at a hem, and with their straight fullness tend decidedly away from the circular flare.

A Spring Shade

Fashion has a habit of rushing the seasons. Therefore it is not a surprise to learn from recently returned travelers that mignonette green is a favorite color of the moment in Paris. Many dresses or tunics of that color in satin are being worn with velvet hats of the same shade.

MEDICAL SOCIETY RECOMMENDS

Health Officer With Jurisdiction Over Both City and County.

At a recent meeting of the Pickaway County Medical society a committee of three was appointed whose duty it is to cooperate with the press of the county in presenting to the public various matters of interest to it.

Believing that a medical society has long ceased to be solely a gathering for self-betterment and social intercourse, the local society has undertaken to bring before the public by means of the press an exposition of the aims and objects of the medical profession the country over. It will publish its position on various health problems of the community and in every way strive to present to the public the best of medical progress.

Locally, this society is in favor of a combined health officer with jurisdiction of both city and county. It is opposed to the old custom of the extension of credit over long periods of time and desultory payments of the accounts.

Generally, this society is opposed to state medicine when that undertakes to deal with individuals. It emphasizes the need and urges the practice on the part of the public, of preventive medicine. The periodic health examination of apparently healthy persons offers the means of untold economies in time, money and pain.

Tuberculosis.

In regard to living in a home where there are tuberculous people, the American Medical association has the following advice to offer. Living in the house with a person who has tuberculosis is not unsafe when intelligent nursing is practiced. Attendants in tuberculosis sanatoria seldom contract the disease.

In homes in which cases of tuberculosis have been handled in a careless manner, the germs contaminate the room in room in which the patient is kept. When there are young children and they are permitted to play on the floors and to use household articles from the sick room, there is danger that they may become infected.

Soiled floors and soiled articles are also mediums for the transmission of the germ to food supplies by means of flies and vermin.

The prevention of tuberculosis is in the control of the sputum that comes from the infected areas of the lungs of the patient. The sputum contains a great number of germs. If each time the patient coughs, the expectoration is spit carefully into a sputum cup and burned, the transmission of the germs to others is prevented. The spread of the disease would soon stop if everyone with active tuberculosis would comply with this simple precaution.

Tuberculosis germs soon die in the presence of light, air and lack of moisture. The renovation of a room on the recovery or death of a tuberculosis patient requires thoro scouring with hot water and lye in sufficient quantities and strength to make the room thoro clean; then the doors and windows should be opened for two or three days to permit the entrance of sunlight and air and to allow for thoro drying. If one does not feel that these measures are sufficient, the woodwork may be freshly painted and the walls newly papered. Bedding and articles of clothing may be sterilized by boiling. Articles that cannot be boiled may be dry cleaned or sunned and aired.

Testimony by Telephone

Recently, testimony was taken by telephone in an American court. One of the witnesses for the commonwealth in an automobile accident case, had just returned home after being a patient in a hospital and was unable to attend court. He was called by telephone, the oath administered and his testimony transmitted and recorded by the court stenographer.

HALF CENTURY OF MARRIED LIFE ANNIVERSARY

Celebrated at Home of Their Daughter, Mrs. Adah Dresbach in Kingston Sunday.

The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs.
John Henry Camp of Bainbridge, was celebrated at the home of their eldest daughter, Mrs. Adah Dresbach in Kingston Sunday. John Henry Camp and Miss Martha Thomas were married near Hallsville February 23, 1876.
Mr. Camp is 70 and his wife 67 years of age.

They have six living children; Mrs.
William C. Boecher of Hallsville; Alfred Camp of Springfield; Kelley Camp of Bainbridge; Mrs. Adah Dresbach of Kingston; Mrs. Albert Crist and Mrs. Earl Kibler, of this city; also thirteen grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

A gift in gold money was made by the family. The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion with flowers; the dining room was illuminated with gold colored candles. Covers were laid for thirty-seven guests.

Invents Device to Register
Transits of Star.

Copenhagen.—Scientists in Denmark are amazed at the attainment of sixteen-year-old Bengt Stroemgreen, son of Prof. Ellis Stroemgreen, director of Copenhagen's astronomical observatory.

This young astronomer has constructed an electrical apparatus which automatically registers the movements of the stars, thus saving astronomers long watching through the telescope.

By the invention the human eye is replaced by a photo-electric cell connected to a telegraphic receiver which measures the time of transit of the stars across the meridian.

Young Stroemgreen, who only recently left school, is now studying mathematics and astronomy at Copenhagen university. His father, however, has insisted on his continuing his studies for the sake of the companionship of boys of his own age. When only fourteen years of age Bengt astonished the astronomical world by writing a technical article on an astronomical problem.

x HARTMAN THEATER. x
x x x x x x x x

The biggest thrill of many seasons in the American theater was provided late in the summer of 1924 when

"What Price Glory" burst on Broadway with a report which has echoed across the continent. "What Price Glory" is the only play about the war of which men who have been in the thick of it say; "This is it!"
"What Price Glory" comes to the Hartman theater, Columbus, for one week beginning Monday February 22, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

This picture of the war is revealed almost unconsciously by its authors.
Laurence Stallings and Maxwell Anderson never planned to make history with their play. Their modest intent was to tell the story—a grinning comedy, in truth—of a battle between two hardboiled Marines for the favors of a peasant girl in a shell-torn corner of France.

But so alive, throbbing and hard-fisted are those characters, so vivid are the scenes, that those who have yearned to know how the war looked and felt and tasted come away from "What Price Glory" with the conviction that they now know something of the war as these men know it. Gargantuan figures they are, Flagg and Quirt. Beasts, men and gods—something of each. To know them is to see life magnified, made more beautiful, more horrible, more devilish and more divine than we, in our cramped lives, can hope to live it.

Captain Flagg and Sergeant Quirt, as impersonated by Louis Wolheim and William Boyd, are unforgettable.
Indeed the whole company of Marines, French peasants, staff officers and camp followers is so perfectly cast that the play offers a cross section of the French front seen thru the eyes of a laughter loving American.

"What Price Glory" was born of the experiences of Laurence Stallings on the battle fields of France. Its characters and incidents, are lifted from life. Veterans of the Marine corps visit the play again and again to greet with cheers of laughter and reminiscent chuckles the whole string of characters and incidents of the story.

To the men who were over there,
"What Price Glory" will recall the most acute moments of their lives.
To the millions of others it has the incalculable value of satisfying a hunger to know what the World war really meant. Here it is—the grinning, brutal, heroic truth.
See it! Then—you'll know.

MANY VOLUMES CIRCULATING FROM LIBRARY

Total Over 37,000 in the Past
Year—State Institution is
a Great Help.

Prospects for activities of the Circleville Public Library in 1926 indicate greater demands upon its resources than ever before. The part that the library takes in all community interests is becoming more and more fully understood and appreciated by the people of our town and vicinity. The problems that confront the board of trustees and librarian in adjusting needs and resources are serious ones and the following report only shows to a small degree some of the work accomplished.

The number of books issued for home reading grows from year to year. There is also a noticeable increase in reference work and reading room attendance. The increase in circulation for 1925 over 1924 was slightly less than that of 1924 over 1923 but a noteworthy comparison matter for congratulation lies in the classes of books circulated. In 1925 both adult and juvenile fiction showed slight decreases in the number of books issued, while there were gains in every class of non-fiction.

The resources of the local library are materially increased thru the cooperation of the State library. Many books and much information, not otherwise available, are supplied to individual borrowers thru this service. The number of books so loaned are not included in our circulation total as they are counted in the statistics of the larger library.

Blame Rays of Sun for Mysterious Fires

Among the many causes of costly fires the sun is one that must be reckoned with, according to a general agent for the Chicago Fire Underwriters' Laboratories.

"In an Illinois city not long ago a fire broke out in the display window of a jewelry store," says the same authority, in Popular Science Monthly. "Among the window decorations was a round ball of glass with a picture under it. The glass had focused the rays of the sun so that it acted like a prism and set fire to tissue paper streamers hanging at the back.
Another natural firebug he says, is static electricity.

"The other day a big garage burned.
Thirteen men were injured and 19 cars burned to cinders because a garage workman didn't know that chamois skin and gasoline are a dangerous combination. He was filling a gasoline tank and used a cham-ois skin inside the funnel to strain out the water. Friction of the gasoline falling on the skin caused static electricity. One good spark was enough to start things going."

Coal Second in France

Coal is next after textile manufacturing in France as an industry
of major importance. There are five distinct and separate districts
in France where coal is mined on a large scale. The number of men employed dropped from over 200,- 000 in 1912 to 50,000 in 1915 due to the war. France, however, consumes more coal than it mines by 10,000,000 to 20,000,000 tons.

AMUSEMENTS

A story of Quebec, with its old-time
romantic atmosphere and the Canadian woods—one of the most popular novels by a tremendously popular author.

That's what one finds on the screen
at the Met theater in the Irvin Willat
Paramount production, "The Ancient Highway" by James Oliver Curwood.
Jack Holt, Billie Dove and Montagu
Love are featured in the principal roles of the production, adapted for the screen by James S. Hamilton and Eve Unsell.

Holt, as Clifton Brant, after adventurous wanderings all over the world, comes back to Canada to settle
an account with the man who had ruined and killed his father. He finds that Ivan Hurd (Love), the big lumber king is not only his own enemy
but the enemy of a beautiful girl
(Billie Dove), whose fortune and good
name are both in danger.

Brant, to wipe out his own debt of
in love with the girl, enlists in the
unequal battle against one of the biggest
and most powerful men in the country, tho his love is unwelcome to her
and she accepts his help only because
he forces it upon her.

The climax of the struggle comes
during the great spring log drive, in which the man has to pit his own unaided strength against not only a ruthless millionaire with every resource at his command but against the forces of nature as well.

The picture ends with the thrilling
break up of the log-jam and the hero
after risking death, comes back to life
to find himself, under surprising circumstances, married to the girl he loves.

A stirring romance of open roads
and deep forests and old Quebec, of danger and brave deeds, there you have "The Ancient Highway."

Appearing in support of the featured players are Stanley Taylor,
Lloyd Whitlock, William A. Carroll,
Marjorie Bonner and Christian J.
Frank.

Twenty Years Longer Life Seen in Half Century

New York.—Twenty years can be added to the average life within the next half century, according to John
A. Kingsbury, secretary of the Mil-
bank Memorial fund, which has conducted experiments in health tests in city and rural districts of New York
state with the $2,000,000 fund at its disposal for this purpose. The report of the fund shows decrease in deaths and sickness as the result of the tests.

The infant mortality rate in Cataraugus county has decreased under the tests from 93 per 1,000
births in 1923 to 65 per 1,000 in 1924,
while the general death rate for the latter period was 12.6 per 1,000 of population, as against 14.4 in 1923.

The supervisors of the county have been so encouraged by this progress
that they have increased the health budget from $16,000 to $56,000. Some improvement also has been noted in Syracuse.

First Congregation Was Assembled in Blockhouse
Guarded by Armed Men

At Carpenter's Station, near Warrenton, Jefferson county, in the early part of September, 1787, the Rev.
George Callanhan planted the seed of Ohio Methodism that has grown in a century of four decades to one of the
world.

The Rev. Callanhan's church was not a church in the full sense of the word, but rather was a sturdy block-
house erected on the frontier settlement to protect Fort Carpenter from
the dangers that lurked in the bordering wilderness.

His congregation, a few score pioneers, assembled in the blockhouse to hear a missionary who probably was the first to set foot on Ohio soil. And as the Rev. Callanhan preached the first Methodist sermon heard in the infant state, fifteen hardy backwoods-
men, armed with rifles, tomahawks
and scalping knives, stood outside as guardsmen.

His sermon ended, the pioneer settlers extended to Rev. Callanhan a pressing invitation to visit the fort again and he acceded. Later on, in 1793, Francis Clark, a champion of Wesley's creed in Kentucky, came to Fort Washington, where Cincinnati
now stands, and preached to a few people.

These humble beginnings are all
that is known of Ohio Methodism
until 1797, and while Callanhan and Clark were credited with introducing
the religion to the Buckeye state, the recognized founder of the present
movement was Francis McCormick.

This founder came fresh from two campaigns in the War of the Revolution. He was the pioneer type, tall
and robust, and when he crossed the Ohio river from Kentucky in 1797, he built a log cabin at Milford, in Cler-mont county.

He became acquainted with Mr.
Johnson, Philip and Joseph Hill, Eze-
kiel Dimmitt, John Ramsey and Asel
Hitchcock. In his log cabin, and with these acquaintances and their wives as members, he organized the first Methodist church.

Methodism flourished with McCormick's drive for converts. A year
after the first class was organized,
Bishop Asbury appointed the Rev.
John Kohler, upon an appeal from Ohio, to form a circuit in that state.

There followed a time in 1801 when
the religious movement was destitute
of itinerant ministers. Local preachers, who were quite numerous in the settlements, then received the aid of many laymen. On August 29, of this year, the first real church edifice was dedicated at a spot nine miles back
of Rome, Adams county.

Methodist historians say it was at Vernon, in Trumbull county, that the first church society on the Western Reserve was formed. It had five members. During the third year of the new century the Rev. Shadrach Bostwick was appointed a regular preacher in eastern Ohio.

From 1803, when William Burke
was sent to Ohio by Bishop Asbury
1810, the religious movement grew to
the proportion of three districts, embodying 21 circuits and 31 preachers.

The first Ohio conference was held
in Chillicothe, October, 1812.

Compilations of the Methodist year
book for last year indicate that Ohio
furnishes greater than one-tenth of the membership of the Methodist churches in the world. The state's full membership during 1925 was 422,790, and its church property included 2,123 church buildings. The total number of Sunday schools was listed as 2,115.

Turkeys were unknown here 400 years ago. North America and Mexico were their original homes, where they were discovered in the sixteenth century by Christopher Columbus and other adventurers. OHIO AUTO ASS'N. WANTS PAVEMENTS THAT WILL LAST

Make Demands That Public Funds Be Not Wasted On Cheap Type.

The Ohio State Automobile Association has filed with the Hempel legislative committee on highways what is termed the "Motorists' Bill of Rights." It amounts to a demand on the state government by the tens of thousands of auto owners, who are affiliated with the Association, for the construction of "lasting pavements"—a kind that will hold up under the present enormous traffic.

"Ohio officials," says the "Bill of Rights," "ought to be able to determine, as well as officials of other states, what kinds of pavement will bear the traffic burden and how to build them soundly. There is no reason why the pavement on state roads should not be strong enough to carry the weights and resist the impacts of passenger cars, trucks and busses without failing? Yet the motorists of Ohio, through their state association, find it necessary to demand lasting pavements and have put their demands in sharp words."

In its statement, the Automobile Association is re-echoing arguments that have been put forth for years by the brick paving interests of Ohio—namely, that it is a waste of public money to build roads that go to pieces soon after they are completed.

It is the contention of the paving brick manufacturers that a highway constructed of vitrified brick, on a solid foundation, will outlast, by many, many years, any other type of paving and will cost the least to maintain over any period of years.

Probably Not

NO RADIO TELEPATHY

Radio telepathy has not yet arrived. Recently more than 2,000,000 radio fans in England were asked to concentrate their minds upon a certain thing—the five of hearts, for instance—and project their combined thought to a committee room in which a small group of representative citizens were locked. They were to cast their fancy with such fervor as to inspire the commission to name the card they had chosen, but the trial was without result. Not one of the committee could name the right card. So it appears that the centralized mind of millions is no more potent than the individual in spanning space.—Los Angeles Times.

Seven-Year Test Made by Nebraska Station.

While there is such a thing as seeding oats too early in the spring, there is no doubt but many farmers are inclined to defer seeding more than seems advisable. Oats are a cool-weather plant, and for that reason the more its growing period can be stretched while the weather is cool the larger will be the yield. The Nebraska experiment station has accumulated some valuable data on this subject in recent years that should be generally known.

In a seven-year test, for example, oats seeded on March 31 averaged 58 bushels per acre; those seeded April 12, 49 bushels; and those seeded April 20, 38 bushels. At the North Platte (Neb.) experiment station in a 14-year test, oats seeded April 8 yielded 28 bushels per acre; those seeded April 18, 25 bushels, and those seeded April 20, 21 bushels.

Average yields of a given crop for periods of seven to fourteen years are pretty reliable and the figures presented above certainly point to early seeding as being very desirable for oats. What may be said about oats in this respect applies equally to barley and spring wheat. It is important, therefore, to have the ground intended for oats or other small grains in shape to rush seeding operations as much as possible after the season for spring work opens.

Farm Inventory Is Very Simple Form of Record

"An inventory can be taken on the average farm in less than half a day, and for the time spent it shows the farmer the most about his business of any records he can keep." This statement is made by Prof. V. B. Hart of the farm management department at the New York State College of Agriculture.

"A farm inventory is the simplest form of farm financial record that can be kept," he says. "The inventory shows the farmer his net worth above debts, and a comparison of two successive annual inventories will show him whether he got ahead during the year. This is the first step to take in putting a farm on a good business basis, and from such an inventory a credit statement can be made to be filed with the bank where the farmer does business."

"Any farmer borrowing money from a bank should file a credit statement with his bank once a year. The banker is a custodian of the funds of his depositors and should not make loans to any but responsible persons. He is entitled to and should have the information which a credit statement gives and this statement also generally gives a farmer a better credit standing at the bank."

The state college at Ithaca has copies of a form for taking an inventory, with spaces provided for all the items. It also contains complete directions for taking the inventory and for making a credit statement, with blanks for two such statements. This can be had free from the college by writing for it.

Ventilation in Chicken

Chickens need more fresh air for their size than any other farm animal. This is because the moisture other animals exude through the skin and kidneys is in poultry almost entirely given off in breathing. The air of an overcrowded, under-ventilated house quickly becomes foul. The chickens get off the roost in the mornings dull and drugged from bad air.

Even open front houses with three sides closed and open on the south may not provide enough fresh air. A narrow board's width opening along the south side immediately under the rafters improves the circulation with out draft. The curtained openings should be from 30 to 36 inches from the floor. All openings should be arranged for closing if necessary.

Inventory Is Big Aid

The farm inventory is an aid in keeping a record of property that has been lent or misplaced. This is often sufficient justification for taking the inventory, although the information it furnishes concerning the progress made in accumulating farm property is of far greater importance. Many farmers who are keeping a close record of their farm business never fail to take their farm inventory.

Economical Rations

Stock keepers must know the cost of their feeds in order to determine the best and most economical rations. For this reason it is necessary to investigate the cost of making silage. The Missouri Agricultural college last year showed a cost of $5.90 per ton for corn silage. They based this on 26½-bushel yield, crediting the corn with 94 cents per bushel and charging actual costs, which were liberal on all items.

Grub Out Dead Trees

Midwinter is the best time to grub out dead trees in the orchard and saw off large dead branches. These should be at once worked up into stove wood. Apple or cherry wood makes excellent fuel for the fireplace or kitchen stove. If removed from the orchard at this time the hazard of their spreading blister canker or borers to the live trees is avoided.

NAVAL RESERVE
PROGRAM

If the naval reserve is to be fully effective in time of need, its members ought to be able to take charge of a ship and work it. With that idea in mind, the department has outlined a plan for next summer's training cruises of these reservists that promises considerable increase in their efficiency.

Heretofore reservists, going to sea for a two weeks' training trip, have had to serve on ships already in commission, sometimes much of the work being done by the regular crew. Now destroyers out of commission are to be turned over to them and crews on ships in commission will be replaced by entire crews of reservists with only such necessary instructors and officers are required.

Moreover, for the first time, reservists of the Middle West, trained hitherto on the Great Lakes, are to be brought to this port and sent to sea on the destroyers. In this way it is hoped that when the training period is over Uncle Sam will have newly organized and ready for service, in the event of a call, a body of men able to man ships and take them to sea as readily as the crews of the regular service. Such training would make the reservists not merely replacements in naval service, but a real auxiliary of immediate value in time of war.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

COL. HOUSE HIT

Nebraska Democrat Makes Sarcastic Reference to Book of Wilson's Adviser.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Commenting on the polished writings of Edward M. House, for many years personal adviser of President Wilson, Representative Howard, Democrat, Nebraska, suggested in the house yesterday that he be sent for by congress to solve the agricultural relief problem.

It was evident from his writings, Mr. Howard said, "that no great step has ever been taken by our nation without the advice of Mr. House," and that President Wilson "made a mistake every time he didn't act as House would have had him."

Had Colonel House lived earlier, Mr. Howard continued, Ingersoll would not have had to deliver his lecture on the mistakes of Moses, but Moses would not have made any. If Colonel House had been present, the Nebraska representative added, Napoleon would not have deposed Josephine.

The name "moire" is applied in the case of silk finished with a watered or clouded effect. It is from the French word meaning wave. The term "watered" and "moire" both are based upon the characteristic appearance, namely, bright and dull in variegated patches, like the wandering of spilled water. The fabric itself sometimes is taffeta, but is usually of a ribbed type as poplin.

Sauerkraut in Canapes.

Take two tablespoons (or one envelope) of gelatine, soften it in a half cup of cold water and dissolve by steaming it over hot water. Add a half cup of cooked salad dressing which has been made with lemon juice instead of vinegar. Add half a can of sauerkraut (saving the rest), two tablespoons finely chopped chives or onions, two tablespoons finely chopped green peppers. Mold in tiny cups. Toast thin slices of stale bread and cut in square or fancy shapes, spread with melted butter and place on this a thin slice of peeled tomato. Unmold the sauerkraut gelatine mixture, cut in thin slices and place them on top of the tomato. Serve as first course of a luncheon.

AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service)

PADEREWSKI GREAT

"The American Legion has no greater friend than Ignace Jan Paderewski," declared John R. McQuigg, national commander of the Legion, recently in pointing out the unusual efforts made by the aging master of the piano in behalf of the Legion's $5,000,000 endowment fund for disabled veterans and orphans of the World war.

The largest individual gift to date to the Legion's endowment fund, $28,487.07, was made by Paderewski. The gift represented the receipts from a series of four concerts at New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Washington. Not only did Paderewski give the entire proceeds of the concerts to the fund, but he also defrayed all the expenses of himself and his large staff.

When President Coolidge, honorary chairman of the Legion's endowment fund, was informed of Paderewski's generous gifts to the fund, he wrote to Commander McQuigg:

"I am extremely gratified that the Paderewski concerts added so materially to the Legion endowment fund, and the thanks of all those interested in this fine cause are due to the pianist and to those who had the matter in charge."

In appreciation of Paderewski's efforts for the endowment fund and in recognition of his distinguished World war record generally, the Legion extended him a special tribute when he appeared in concert recently at Indianapolis, where national headquarters of the Legion is located. When the great Pole arrived at the concert hall he was met at the stage entrance by a Legion committee representing Commander McQuigg. Color bearers stood at either side of the entrance bearing the national and Legion colors. The Legion committee occupied a box suitably decorated. Following the concert a floral tribute in behalf of nearly a million Legionnaires was presented.

Following the concert, the Legion expressed to Paderewski the Legion's appreciation for what he had done for the disabled and the orphans of the war. Mr. Paderewski replied:

"I want to express my thanks to the Legion for having been permitted in my small way to show my appreciation for what American soldiers did for honor and service and love of liberty. For you fought not for the Stars and Stripes only, but for the Polish eagle."

Legionnaires Take Jobs
of Illinois Policemen

When a large part of the police force of La Grange, Ill., went on strike recently in sympathy with a chief of police who resigned, it seemed that the town would be unprotected until the American Legion came to its rescue.

The trustees of the village met in special session and issued a call for volunteers. Col. W. M. Curtis, commander of the local American Legion post, responded.

Within a few minutes he had a force of twenty-five Legionnaires on the streets to protect the village from any criminals that might take advantage of an unpoliced city.

"The American Legion responded nobly in this crisis," Trustee W. M. Galvin said. "Within a few minutes after part of the police force quit we had Legionnaires patrolling the streets and they stuck to their beats until regular officers could be sworn in."

Son Killed in War;

Impostor Is Detected

Rev. and Mrs. Charles Frazier of South Dakota have apparently at last accepted the finding of a federal jury that their son, Arthur, was killed in the World war and buried in a Nebraska cemetery. Through a long controversy they maintained their belief that a man claiming to be their son was really Arthur, even after the jury found that he was an impostor. Advances reaching Minnesota Legionnaires indicate that the couple have applied for federal and state bonuses as beneficiaries of Arthur.

Arithmetic

A benevolent old gentleman (Isn't it the darndest how they always crop up in a story?) noticed a small boy burst into tears after he had dropped a dime down a grating.

"Never mind, little man," he comforted. "I'll give you another dime." "But then," wailed the youngster, bursting into a fresh spasm, "I'd have had twenty cents if I hadn't lost one. Wawawahoo!"—American Legion Weekly.

Supplied

Noticing a pretty new face in his congregation, the minister was bound to display a cordial interest.

"We are pleased to have you here," he told her politely. "If you will give me your name and address I shall be happy to call." "Cut it, doc," retorted the flapper, wearily. "I've got a sheik."—American Legion Weekly.

OMAHA, NEB.,

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 19.—(UP.)

—Omaha's fear of its "maniac sniper" increased today when it was learned two more persons have been fired upon.

John Fitzhenry, a sailor from Detroit, reported today that he had scarcely arrived in Omaha, last night before he heard a bullet fly past his ear.

John Turner, a negro janitor, reported a similar attack.

Dr. A. D. Searles, a prominent physician and Wm. McDevitt so far are the only victims of the "sniper" who have been fatally wounded. Dr. Searles was slain in his office yesterday and McDevitt was killed Sunday evening.

Several persons previously reported incidents similar to last night's attacks upon Fitzhenry and Turner.

The sniper's activities indirectly brought another death today when Frank Pesek, 45, succumbed to heart failure as he was discussing the crimes. Physicians said fear may have caused the man's death.

WASHINGTON
SPECIALS

Washington, Feb. 19.—(UP.)

—An indication that Democrats in the House might withdraw their support from the Dickinson farm relief bill was given today when Rep. Oldfield, Dem., Ark., introduced the Robinson export corporation bill. The bill as Oldfield presented it was modified to include provision for a schedule of bounties to be paid to farm co-operative associations and other exporters.

A resolution directing Secretary of State Kellogg to furnish the house with all information in its possession on the expulsion and treatment of American citizens in Mexico, was introduced today by Rep. Fairchild, New York, Republican. Fairchild's resolution referred to the expulsion of American clergymen from Mexico and the recent Tia Juana incident.

Loans to brokers and dealers, secured by stocks and bonds, made by sixty-one banks in New York City amounted to $3,137,588.000 during the week of Feb. 10, the federal reserve board announced today.

Original "America"

The name America was originally used only for a portion of central Brazil, the territory explored by Vesputci in his voyages to the New World. It was first employed for the entire western world by Mercator in 1541.

Great Lakes "High Seas"

The controversy regarding the status of the Great Lakes was settled in November 20, 1893, when the Supreme Court of the United States handed down a decision that the term "high seas" justly applied to them.

PRISONERS

Pikesville, Ky., Feb. 19.—

(UP.)—Barricaded somewhere in the hills surrounding Pikeville, thirteen prisoners who escaped from the county jail during the night, successfully evaded capture today.

The prisoners sawed through the top bars of their cell block, climbed through a trap door to the roof and fled.

TAX SETTLEMENT

Pickaway county stands eleventh in the list in making its tax returns and settlement with the state.

Humidity

Relative humidity is the ratio of the amount of invisible water vapor in a given volume of air to the amount that would make this air saturated at the same temperature. In short, it is the ratio between the amount of invisible vapor present to the maximum amount that could be present at the same temperature. In measuring humidity only the invisible water vapor is considered, and not the drops of rain or droplets of fog.

Ornamental Boots Are in Limelight

Decorated Footwear Is Indorsed by Women of Paris Stage.

The Paris bottlers are already launching their spring and summer campaign, and it is evident that there will be a strong effort to popularize the ornamental shoe. Simple shoes, writes a fashion correspondent in the New York Herald-Tribune, which have been most synonymous with short skirts, have basked long enough in the spotlight, according to the French bootmakers, and a trend toward unique and unusual footwear is already under way.

For Riviera sojourners Hellstern is making evening footwear in black satin, trimmed with pink, in gold and silver tinsel brocades, often combined with colored kid, and in satin of various shades of brown arranged so as to grade from light to dark—a novelty into the making of which blond kid also enters. Perugia favors orchid and silver brocade, pastel shades in kid and hand-painted satin. Juliette, the woman shoemaker, places her faith in ruby red satin with plaits running the length of the shoe, as well as in cocoa, cinnamon and light sandstone brocade with a cubist design, combined with plain sandstone colored satin and ornamented with translucent sandstones—amber in color and flecked with gold, these latter forming a button.

The stage provides another fertile background for ornate footwear and leading French actresses are exploiting the most novel types of shoes. Quite a sensation was created recently when one of the most charming actresses of the Ambigu theater appeared in a pair of the new enameled shoes which are being made by Hellstern. The process of enameling is said to be a secret one. The lady's footwear was enameled gold and white, entirely on kid with the exception of the straps of black patent, on which was an enameling of golden flowers. The angles of the black cubic heels were emphasized with lines of gold.

Some very striking new shoes are to be seen at the Theatre de Paris, and one prominent actress as a young sportswoman wears oxfords of red box calf with lizard toe caps and two narrow bands of lizard skin within a centimeter of the collar.

Some telling combinations of colors are being featured by another actress at the Theater Francais. In one act she appears in gray kid with a very large tab attached by three blue enameled buttons. Over the instep is an edging of blue, while blue lines ornament the gray heels. Her evening shoes in another act are partly blond kid, partly chestnut doeskin, with a blond tortoise shell buckle on the vamp.

Belts Are Decorative;
Trimmed With Ornaments

Belts are smartly decorative this season, as may be seen by the one above. Many are hand-cut and trimmed with appropriate metal ornaments.

Rose Colors Promised Favorites for Spring

The piquant contrast the fashions of this particular season afford makes it one of the most interesting periods of the year. Side by side with the winter modes that have survived are resort fashions that have the charm of novelty and a certain appeal that is due as much as anything else to their clear, fresh colorings.

The early prediction that spring would be a season of light shades is borne out in the models introduced for the South. Fashion apparently will look upon the world through rose-colored glasses, for the shades of rose both in the beige tones and pink are much in evidence throughout the entire spring collection.

For street wear the varied tones of bois de rose are exploited both in costumes fashioned of silk and those developed in the new light woolsens. These last are unusually handsome and are chosen for smart travel coats whose straight lines are a contrast to the flared effects which held sway during the winter.

Velveteen and Jersey

Gasoline Fumes Explode and Kills One and Burns the Feet Off the Other.

Athens, O., Feb. 22, (UP). — A graphic story of how two intrepid moonshiners, trapped in a cavern in the Pone Ridge district, fought a losing battle with fire and how one of them was killed and the other's feet burned off, was brought to Athens today by prohibition agents.

The agents were Frank Leniger, 26, who was killed and his brother, Amos 23, whose feet were burned off, according to the agents. The brothers were from Kentucky.

Called to the Pone Ridge district by reports that "something was wrong in a cave," the prohibition officers were not prepared for what they found.

High up on the rock slopes of a hill they found the unconscious form of Amos Leniger, his feet charred from his body. The officers then discovered a cave nearby and defying their heavy outer garments, entered the subterranean chamber.

At the end of the tunnel, the officers came upon a complete distilling apparatus, the charred body of Frank Leniger lying nearby. Fumes from a gasoline stove had exploded, killing Leniger and igniting his clothing.

Amos had dragged himself into the open.

In the cavern were a half score of large barrels filled with mash. The cave had been equipped for living quarters and had been in use for months.

Carbide lamps, such as those used by miners, formed the lighting apparatus. The still and barrels had been taken into the cave in pieces and assembled.

Few Live Without Cooks
At the present time it is doubtful whether there are any people who do not use some process of preparing or cooking food. The extremely Far Northern Eskimos habitually eat their meat in a raw state, other food consisting entirely of uncooked fruit or berries. But it has been found that even these tribes occasionally thaw out frozen meat through a partial process of boiling.

Obedience First
We need only obey. There is guidance for each of us, and by lowly listening we shall hear the right word. —Emerson.
